

Communal Rabbi - Sydney, Australia

Kehillat Kadimah is an Orthodox community situated in Rose Bay. Our community has nearly 1,000 members, representing in excess of 300 families. We are a predominantly Ashkenazi community with the majority of family histories stemming from Australia, Europe, South Africa, Israel, New Zealand and England. Kehillat Kadimah was established in mid-2017, with the objective to energise, invigorate and attract younger families to the community, as well as serve a community which dates back to 1950. In addition to our Orthodox practices, we are proudly Zionist in our values and observances.

We are seeking a Rabbi to lead our community. Skills, knowledge and personal attributes sought in a Rabbi include:

- Being well-versed in both Torah and secular knowledge
- Together with his wife, being a role model for religious observance and practices
- Having a caring, sensitive, flexible, tolerant and approachable manner
- Being able to foster a sense of inclusion in the community
- Being able to strengthen our community through their combined presence and approach
- Acting as a leader in coordinating with and working alongside other communal groups.

The successful candidate would be available for immediate start. Full role description and details for application can be obtained by sending a confidential email to:
