ZINC-ALLOY HANDLE SCISSORS SERIES

Zinc alloy is less dense than stainless steel, so a zinc alloy handle of the same volume is lighter in weight and more comfortable to hold, especially during extended use. Raw material prices and processing costs are also lower than those of stainless steel, so zinc alloy grips are usually sold at a cheaper price.

PINKING SHEARS

Pinking shears are scissors with special blades that cut a zigzag pattern instead of a straight line. This zigzag cut helps to prevent fabric from fraying, which is a common problem with woven fabrics that are cut with regular scissors. Pinking shears are a handy tool for anyone who sews or does crafts with fabric.
