Question: What is the Green New Deal (GND)?

- The house resolution 109 for the "Green New Deal," 116th Congress outlines the bill and is a good place to start: <https://www.congress.gov/bill/116th-congress/house-resolution/109/text>

After reading the House and Senate resolution that reappeared via Rep. Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez's and Sen. Edward Markey, please watch a Vox Video overview: "The Green New Deal Explained," Vox Video, 6/12/19

The GND addresses the dual realities of economic inequality and climate change. In 2007, Thomas Friedman wrote a NYT Magazine piece calling for a "Green New Deal," and did so again in his book "Hot, Flat and Crowded." Read the article by Thomas Friedman, "The Green New Deal Rises Again," NYTimes, 1/8/19 <https://www.nytimes.com/2019/01/08/opinion/green-new-deal.html>

Question: What might it look like? The power of vision and imagination

- Kate Aronoff, "With a Green New Deal, Here's what the world could look like for the next generation," The Intercept, 12/5/18

Question: What is the pushback against the GND?

- The neoliberal agenda. Naomi Klein states in her book, "This Changes Everything: Capitalism vs the Climate,"
"Indeed the three policy pillars of the neoliberal age—privatization of the public sphere, deregulation of the corporate sector, and the lowering of income and corporate taxes, paid for with cuts to public spending—are each incompatible with many of the actions we must take to bring our emissions to safe levels."
