On October 27th he will be performing in a Halloween party show at the Abby in DeLand Florida. His last performance of the year will be at the Abby on December 7th he will be hosting and performing for world Aids day event.

Scott Mena was born in Sleepy Hollow, New York, and was raised a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints. When he was a kid, he always made little shows with his sister and cousin for the holidays. He made his first film, The Forbidden, when he was in middle school His love for film and theatre led him to be an actor, director, writer, editor and filmmaker. He starred as "Kenny" in Denial Seat that was produced at Playwrights' Round Table's Summer Shorts at the Orlando Shakespeare Theatre. He received praises for his performance as "Mrs. White" in Shoestring Theater's Clue: The Musical (Silver Sandal Award, Most Comedic). Other Theater Productions: Almost Maine (East, Lendell, Chad, and Danny), The Miracle Worker (James Keller), The 39 Steps (Clown 1), A Midsummer Night's Dream (Bottom), All in the Timing (Philip Glass), The Lion, the Witch, and the Wardrobe (Peter / Mr. Beaver / Edmond / Mr. Tumnus / Aslan), Dracula: A Tale Told by Mina Harker (Dracula / Renfield), Arsenic and Old Lace (Dr. Einstein), The Hobbit (Gollum), and many more. In Film he did Break-Out Case, Magical Mix-Up, Tales of Algos, Up There, The Job Interview, Only in the Movies, Comics For All, Within Reach and many other film projects. Scott's seven short films he created have been official selections to numerous film festivals. Director of the award-winning short films A Walk to Breathe, No Vuelvo, Talking to Myself, and 12:36. He also develops, direct, film, and edit ads for non-profit organizations and other companies with Mena Productions. June 1 marks his two-year anniversary of coming out on Facebook and since has been a spokesperson for the LGBTQ+ community. Whether it's filming and editing videos for DeLand Pride, participating in LGBTQ+ rallies in Tallahassee, giving his time to help with Orlando PFlag, making YouTube videos as Theater Guy, attending the LDS faith and helping bridge the gap with their community and the LGBTQ+ community, Scott is in constant motion. Last June he won the title of Mr. DeLand Pride.
