

Certified Gluten-Free Products

A certified gluten-free product is different than a product that has the label "gluten-free." A certified gluten-free product pays for a third party company to test its products to ensure they are gluten-free and meet certain requirements (see below).

The following are certified gluten-free labels you might see:

Gluten-Free Certification Program (GFCP)

Tests to 20 ppm

Gluten-Free Certification Organization (GFCO)

Tests to 10 ppm

NSF

Tests to 20 ppm

Gluten-Free Food Program (GFPP)

Tests to 5 ppm

Please keep in mind that you do not need to only purchase certified gluten-free products.
