

listed below. The use of a Sensor is only limited by your imagination, so be creative—and feel free to experiment.

A few suggestions: Always face the Sensor toward the substance or person you wish to innergize, and place it in close proximity to the body or surface to be treated. Sensors do not require alignment and may be used in any position, so you may place them wherever you wish. The longer substances are treated on the Sensor, the better the results. Since these devices organize and re-radiate both environmental and cosmic energies, they will be sensitive to influences from outer space, such as heavy sunspot activity or the moon's position. We have found in certain cases the energy of the full moon interferes with the effects of a Sensor, so this is a fascinating area to watch - and in which to experiment.

Scientific research has recently uncovered the relation between electromagnetic energies in our universe, such as those radiated by the Sensor, and the effect such energies have on the body. These discoveries revolve around the fact that the body is composed entirely of colloidal systems, as are all living organisms including plants and animals.

Colloids are very fine electrically charged particles often found in the form of a milky suspension. These particles can remain suspended in solution indefinitely because their charge overcomes the effect of gravity until an electrical imbalance occurs. These kinds of particles are extremely sensitive to ultra-subtle electromagnetic fields, and can react to energies which are undetectable even by today's technology.

Studies done by Dr. Giorgio Piccardi, Professor of Chemistry at the University of Florence, and Dr. Antone Schwenk, a German chemist, have shown that planetary positions, sun spots, gravitational changes, and extremely weak electromagnetic fields all have dramatic effects on colloidal systems.

The findings of Drs. Piccardi and Schwenk are consistent with those electromagnetic properties discovered by Dr. Flanagan in pyramid energy. Dr. Flanagan has shown that pyramids, and most particularly the Sensor II, are resonant to energies that affect colloids. It has been established that these energies have a powerful effect on living organisms—which can be measured on acupuncture energy equipment.

In conducting further research work on the Sensor II, Dr. Flanagan was shown a device which appeared similar to an earlier model of the Sensor II.

Regarding this find, Dr. Flanagan has stated, "I think the power of many of these ancient amulets was based on their different shapes and forms. Shapes and forms possess varied resonances to electromagnetic frequencies which can be shown to have a measurable effect on the body. I strongly believe that many of the talismans used throughout history by different cultures possessed psychic energy. And, anything with a physical effect has to be measurable. It is from this precedent that I use modern acupuncture technology, because in this way we can measure.

The following experiments have been written by Dr. Flanagan to aid the experimenter in exploring the field of Pyramid Energy. (If you are using the Sensor I, be sure to face the rings toward the substance to be treated.)

TURNING YOUR ROOM INTO A PYRAMID: Place Sensors in the corner pockets of your room, or into the pockets formed by the walls and ceiling. The room becomes a radar reflector and multiple tetrahedron, collecting energies like a pyramid. Feel the energy change in the room!

IMPROVE THE PERFORMANCE OF YOUR PYRAMID!: Place a Sensor on the apex (ring side down if you are using Sensor I) and feel the energy change inside the structure. The Sensor recirculates the energy flow, eliminating any of the so-called negative nodes near the inside apex, turning the entire flow positive. Feel the increase in energy!

STIMULATE YOUR GARDEN SEEDS: Place your planting seeds on the Sensor overnight, and then plant normally. Keep a control plot of untreated seeds, and notice the difference in the two groups. In addition, sprinkle your plants with Sensor-energized water and watch them grow!

SENSOR ENERGIZED WATER: Place a quart of water on the Sensor and do not stir or shake for approximately 3 to 5 minutes or longer. Water energized has virtually unlimited uses. Everything from watering your plants to coffee, tea or juices. Use Sensorized water like rain water rinse for your hair.

SENSORIZED COSMETICS: Users have reported delightful results by treating their shampoo, facial creams, masques, etc. with the Sensor. You may also wish to try brightening your jewelry by placing it on the Sensor, as we have received reports that diamonds appear brighter after treatment!

COFFEE AND TEA: Coffee or tea left on the Sensor for five minutes or more will lose its bitterness as if by magic. This is a good demonstration to try on your friends. Don't tell them what to expect. To speed the reaction, stir the beverage for one minute or longer. A jar of instant coffee or tea left overnight on the Sensor will also have improved flavor.

WINE AND LIQUOR: All alcoholic beverages taste milder and have fuller body after Sensor treatment. The longer the liquid is left on the Sensor, the milder it tastes. Try taping a Sensor to the bottom of your favorite wine — and see what happens. A bottle of cheap brandy left one month on the Sensor fooled a licensed taster into believing it was a $50 bottle of Cognac.
