Behind the Scenes

This is the first of our monthly newsletters. Each month, we will be sharing updates on new products, what we are currently working on, and a small, personal glimpse into who we are. To begin, we would like to share the story behind our name: Our Hidden Creeks.

Angel and I live on approximately 14 acres of wooded land, with two intersecting creeks winding through the back of our property. We love wandering the forest paths and spending quiet moments on a bench overlooking the water. If you sit there long enough, you'll spot all kinds of wildlife and hear nearly every type of bird imaginable. We named the property Our Hidden Creeks, and over time, it's become more than a place—it's become who we are.

Fresh off the workbench

We have been busy creating new pieces while also restocking many of your favorites. This month, we're highlighting Cherry Blossom Bridge—a graceful cherry blossom tree in full bloom, overlooking a traditional oriental bridge. The scene is so vivid, you can almost imagine the air filled with its soft, sweet fragrance.

Your Handcrafted Stories

We met a customer last spring who became genuinely excited about our Great Wave artwork. She turned to her friend and said it felt like destiny that we had it. Visiting from England, she was scheduled to return home the very next morning. She explained that she hadn't planned to purchase anything, knowing how difficult it would be to travel with artwork—but this piece was different. The night before, she had dreamed about it.

That morning, she woke up thinking how strange it was to dream of a specific piece of art, only to encounter it just hours later at our booth. She told us she simply had to have it. Moments like these remind us why we create. We love when our pieces spark a memory, a feeling, or a small sense of wonder that brings a smile.
