FALL READING RECOMMENDATIONS FROM YOUR FRIENDS

In the Woods is the first novel by mystery/suspense writer Tana French and introduces the reader to the Dublin Murder Squad who are working to solve not only the recent murder of a 12-year-old girl but also the murder that took place nearly twenty years ago in the very spot in a secluded wood. The well-drawn Irish setting and French's masterful timing make this an all-time favorite.

The One Hundred Years of Lenni and Margot by Marianne Cronin. An extraordinary friendship. A lifetime of stories. Life is short. Living on the terminal ward, Lenni joins an art class, and bumps into fellow patient Margot ...

A Gentleman in Moscow by Amor Towles. Marooned for decades in a luxury Moscow hotel, Count Alexander Rostov survives the Stalin years and regales us with the lives of the elite in Soviet Russia as he joins the proletariat serving the guests of the hotel. Surprises await: a daughter, an odd panel; and a scene from Casablanca haunts him.

Becoming by Michelle Obama. In a life filled with meaning and accomplishment, Michelle Obama has emerged as one of the most iconic and compelling women of our era. As First Lady of the United States of America—the first African American to serve in that role—she helped create the most welcoming and inclusive White House in history. All while establishing herself as a powerful advocate for women.

Wonderful Adventures of Mrs. Seacole in Many Lands by Mary Seacole and W.J.S.(1857) Considered by some as one of the best non-fiction books ever, the autobiography of a Jamaican-born British entrepreneur who opens a hotel in 1850s Crimea to nurse and comfort the wounded as they await their ships home. Her struggles with race, finances, and acceptance of her work as a "doctress". Available as a download Kindle book from Project Gutenberg (www.gutenberg.org).

PLANT SALE

This year's sale was a great success! There are still some bulbs for sale (check out the box on top of the library book drop), but otherwise we're putting the sale "to bed" for the winter.

Thanks to everyone who helped work with the plants or donated them, and to everyone who shopped for plants at the library this year!!
(Plant donations can be brought to the library any time; leave them on the north end of the library, near the pot corral.)
