TINA ADAIR

"Tina makes every song sound better."

- RONNIE BOWMAN

Tina Adair is the first female lead to record and release for Engelhardt Music Group. The label has become known for their elite representation of world-class singers and musicians from their Nashville, TN location. With Adair, they made no exception. No one can deny that Tina is undoubtedly one of the most powerful, soul-bearing, and masterful female vocalists in the world. Bluegrass is surely proud and blessed to have been given her gift for many years. The record was engineered and produced by Adam Engelhardt and Glen Duncan, at the Sony Tree studio.

"A big part of the reason why Sister Sadie was named Vocal Group of the Year for 2021 is the singing of their mandolinist, Tina Adair."

JOHN LAWLESS, BLUEGRASS TODAY

- 2019 - GRAMMY Nominated Bluegrass Album of the Year (Sister Sadie "II")
- 2019, 2020, 2021 - IBMA Vocal Group of the Year (Sister Sadie)
- 2020 - IBMA Entertainer of the Year (Sister Sadie)

"There's something special, something almost unquantifiable, that an assured and accomplished veteran brings to a musical project. [...] Ultimately, this sterling collection adds yet another shining coat of luster of Adair's long, celebrated career."

BOB ALLEN, BLUEGRASS UNLIMITED

"Tina Adair is one of the finest female Bluegrass singers on the scene. Her tone and phrasing are impeccable because they are natural. There is no affectation in what Tina does. I can't adequately describe the joy it brings me when an artist like her records one of my songs. Thank you, Tina."
