A Message from your Board Chair

Why I'm excited to be part of the Wyoming HOSA inaugural board is recognizing that educational programs give students the opportunity to participate, learn, engage and understand the process of career choices.

My background in the medical field started as an EMT which led me wanting more knowledge, of what I could do in the medical field. I started with my Associated Degree in nursing from CWC, which then lead to my Bachelor's Degree in Nursing from University of Wyoming, then my Master's Degree in Nursing from University of Wyoming.

I think HOSA is important to help students understand the opportunities that is out there to help them succeed in life, and there are pathways in the state of Wyoming.

What I look to accomplish in the year going forward is to get the word out there in Wyoming that we do care about our student's education and offering programs if they are interested in pursuing a career in health professions.

Going forward and embracing HOSA.

Barbara Jean James, M.S., B.S.N., RN

Importance of National Suicide Prevention Month

Happy September! September is recognized as National Suicide Prevention month. Whether it is because of school, financial burden, work, or relationships, we sometimes find ourselves struggling to get through the day. You can talk to a trusted adult, friend, or family member when going through a difficult time. We want you to know that it is okay to not feel well and there are many resources to help.

Resources:

- 988 Suicide & Crisis Lifeline Call or Text line.

How can I reach out to others? It is hard to reach out to others for help. Whether you are afraid that you are overreacting, scared of being judged or becoming a burden, or you just don't know what to say, small conversations can make a big difference. Here are some pre-written messages you can send to a trusted person.

- "I'm struggling right now and just need to talk to someone."
- "Can we chat a bit?"
- "This is hard for me to say but I'm having painful thoughts and it might help to talk. Are you free?"
- "Hi, When you get a chance can you contact me? I feel really alone and suicidal, and could use some support."
- "I don't want to die, but I don't know how to live. Talking with you may help me feel safe. Are you free to talk?"
- Also, please know that you don't have to be suicidal to be struggling with mental health.

tips and tricks

1. MAKE MEETINGS WORTH ATTENDING

Keep members engaged with interactive meetings. Add icebreakers, healthcare games, guest speakers, or hands-on activities so every meeting is something members look forward to.

2. KEEP YOUR CHAPTER ACTIVE ONLINE

Use social media to celebrate members, promote events, and share chapter highlights. A strong online presence helps recruit new members and keeps everyone informed.

3. START COMPETITION PREP EARLY

Don't wait until registration opens! Explore competitive events on SCHOSA.org, choose your event early, find teammates, and create a plan for success.

4. USE YOUR RESOURCES

Take advantage of your advisor's experience, invite healthcare professionals or alumni to speak, and don't hesitate to ask questions. The best chapters know how to use the people around them.
