Cornerstone Credit Union donates $10,000 to help put new Lab Equipment in The Yorkton Regional Hospital

Yorkton – Doug Jones, CEO of Cornerstone Credit Union, presented a cheque for $10,000 to Ross Fisher, Executive Director of The Health Foundation, to help put the new lab equipment in place.

“Cornerstone Credit Union understands it is very important to have current equipment in the lab of the regional hospital. The lab is often the first place your doctor sends you for tests if something doesn’t seem right, and more information is needed. Having good equipment in the lab makes sure our medical professionals have the right equipment to be able to do the best job they can for their patients,” said Doug Jones.

“Having strong healthcare services is important to this community and this region. Healthcare is one of those foundation pieces to having a strong community. That is one of the reasons we support the work of the Foundation every year. The work of The Health Foundation improves our local healthcare, enhancing and expanding the services we can access locally; and, that is important to Cornerstone Credit Union,” continued Mr. Jones.

“While we support the work of The Health Foundation, Cornerstone also supports and works with many other community groups in our region. We think it is important to support organizations that help make our communities more vibrant and better places to live and raise a family,” said Lori Walsh, Vice President of Marketing & Communications.

“We are very grateful for this generous donation, and to have the continuing support of Cornerstone Credit Union for our work. This donation comes at a terrific time as we are trying to finish this fundraising campaign by the end of the year and this generous donation is a big jump toward our goal,” said Ross Fisher.
