

Naohiro Mouri

Executive Vice President and Chief Auditor, AIG

Naohiro Mouri is Executive Vice President and Chief Auditor of AIG. He previously served as Senior Managing Director of Asia Pacific Internal Audit at AIG and is a national of Japan. He was nominated as external advisor to UNOPS in 2021; and joined the AAC in 2022.

Prior to joining AIG in 2015 Mr. Mouri was Statutory Executive Officer, Senior Vice President and Chief Auditor for MetLife Japan. He has also held number of chief auditor positions at JP Morgan for Asia Pacific, Shinsei Bank, Morgan Stanley Japan, and Deutsche Bank Japan. He started his 32-year auditing career at Arthur Andersen in Atlanta and Tokyo.

He is currently residing in New York but has worked and lived in multiple countries including Japan, Hong Kong, Philippines, Saudi Arabia, and Kuwait in the past. Long an advocate for internal audit professionals, Mr. Mouri served as Chairman of the Institute of Internal Auditors (IIA) Global Board of Directors (2018-2019) and has been an active member of the organization since 1995. The IIA has over 220,000 members around the world in 125 countries representing the internal audit profession. In addition, he has been Director for the IIA Japan since 2003. His previous senior positions at the IIA include Board Member representing Japan, International Secretary, and Vice Chairman - Professional Services. Mr. Mouri was the first President of the Asian Confederation of Institutes of Internal Auditors from 2001 to 2006.

Mr. Mouri has received the Victor Z. Brink Award for distinguished service to the profession in 2021, and he has also received the Outstanding Contribution in the Field of Internal Audit Award from the Asia Confederation of the IIA in 2016. Mr. Mouri has co-authored a book on internal auditing for financial institutions in Japanese and Mandarin and lectured at several industry and academic forums, including at Meiji University Graduate program for professional accountancy and Senshu University. He is a Certified Public Accountant (U.S.) and a Certified Internal Auditor and holds a Bachelor's degree in accounting from Georgia State University. He also successfully completed the MetLife Enterprise Leadership Program at Harvard Business School.