

Rick Machold is a global assurance and risk executive with a distinguished record of transforming audit functions, elevating risk governance, and delivering difference-making insights to boards and executive leadership. He currently serves as Vice President, Enterprise Risk and Internal Audit for Inspire Brands, where he leads integrated assurance, enterprise risk management, and internal audit activities across one of the world's largest restaurant companies.

Rick's distinguished career spans senior leadership roles at Conduent, TSYS, Global Payments, Invesco, First Data, and Certegy, where he consistently elevated audit and risk functions to become valued and trusted partners to the business. His accomplishments include driving major audit value transformation, establishing leading-practice ERM programs, optimizing global audit delivery models, and strengthening board-level risk oversight.

A CPA, CIA, and CRMA, Rick is also a published author, award-winning contributor to Internal Auditor Magazine, and frequent speaker on risk-based auditing, governance, and integrated assurance. He has served in multiple leadership roles within the Institute of Internal Auditors and remains an active contributor to the profession. An avid and accomplished musician as well, Rick resides in the Atlanta metro area with his wife, Erin.
