

Sabbath is Coming!

(I was trying to prepare for Sabbath but I kept getting interrupted and had to deal with time-consuming situations. This made me frustrated and border-line angry at the unfairness of it all.
I complained to Yahweh about it, then repented, and He gave me this:)

It's Friday morning, and time to prepare for the Sabbath that's coming
but you must beware.

Expect distractions
to take you off course.
Expect problems
and interruptions, of course.

These are all tests
that must come our way.
The angels are watching
what we do, what we say.

Were you able to keep
a sweet, loving spirit?
When the Holy Ghost spoke,
were you able to hear it?

Satan hates the Sabbath
more than anything.
It reminds him that Yahshua
will soon be crowned King!

So keep smiling and be sweet
in whatever comes your way.
Rejoice in the Sabbath,
that glorious 7th Day!
