

Patricia Dennis

Photography

My burning passion is to capture the beauty that I see and be able to represent it in such a way that the viewer feels the awe as well. I want my final rendition to result in a visual poetry that weaves hidden words, lines, dramatic colour and textures of the surrounding scene. The painter in me has also been known at times to surface to create an impressionistic version of the subject matter. I feel that the interaction between photographer, subject and the viewer is a never ending cycle which constantly inspires fresh outlooks and ideas within us all. "A camera is a SAVE button for the mind's eye." — (R.Kingston) and captures those special moments and freezes them in time. I'm happy to be able to share some of those moments I found special with you!

