St. John Baptist de La Salle
Born in Reims, France
April 30, 1651 – April 7, 1719

Saint Jean-Baptiste de La Salle or John Baptist de La Salle was a French priest, educational reformer and founder of the Institute of the Brothers of the Christian Schools.

When John Baptist de La Salle founded the Brothers in France in 1679, he had only a handful of men to help him. At the time of his death in 1719 there were 100 Brothers in 22 schools, teaching 5000 students throughout France. Today over 5,000 Brothers and many thousands of lay partners continue in the De La Salle tradition. They minister to more than 900,000 students in universities, schools and other educational and welfare institutions in over 80 countries around the world.

The Brothers Rule states that the Mission of the Institute is “to provide a human and Christian education to the young, especially the poor, according to the ministry entrusted to them by the church.”
