Sun Francisco’s Castro Theatre, on Castro Street, near Market Street will open its doors at 9 AM on January 23rd for us to hear our Program Chairman, Warren Lubich, entertain us on the 4/32 Wurlitzer in a chapter member’s concert. The program will start promptly at 9:30. There will be a $4 charge at the door.

In previous issues of the Windsheet, we had identified John Lauter as our intended artist. With a change of plans of that artist, Warren was again on the spot to find someone to ride up the organ lift that morning. He made calls to several other fine area artists who might be able to perform on such short notice, but without success. So, Warren has graciously offered to serve as our artist.

Warren began his formal music education at age seven with four years of classical piano followed by two years of pop arranging and harmony. Upon graduation from college he became involved with the Avenue Theatre in San Francisco and its Wurlitzer. After honing his skills on a pipe organ, he was named staff organist at the Avenue and performed the Friday night ‘solo spots’ until the theatre ceased operation in 1984. In 1978, Warren also became staff organist for Pizza and Pipes, Inc. and performed first at the Daly City location and then the Redwood City location until it ceased operation in 2001. Between 1980 and 2003, Warren performed 27 overseas concerts in England, Australia and New Zealand and performed several silent movie programs at the Egyptian Theatre in Boise, Idaho.

In 1993, he joined the organ staff at the Grand Lake Theatre in Oakland, CA and in 2000, he was added to the organ staff at the Castro Theatre in San Francisco. He performs weekly at both locations. Aside from all this, Warren enjoyed a thirty-six year career as a Staff Research Associate at the University of California’s School of Medicine in San Francisco working in the fields of osteoporosis and hyper/hypo parathyroidism with the Department of Medicine and brain tumor research with the Department of Neurosurgery. His hobbies include gardening and his collection of vintage automobiles [Packards—Pub.].

Warren joined ATOS and Nor-Cal in 1969. In 1970 he was elected Vice President of Nor-Cal and after one year moved up to President to fill the vacancy resulting from health problems with President Dewey Cagle. At that time, Nor-Cal’s treasury held the handsome sum of $80,000. He doubled as program chairman and managed to organize regular chapter events at the many organ-equipped pizza restaurants in the bay area. He continued on as President until 1976, at which time he stepped down and left the treasury with several thousand dollars on hand. During his tenure he established Nor-Cal as a corporation and saw the chapter through the 1975 National Convention with Judd Walton as Convention Chairman. The success of that convention is what put money in the bank for Nor-Cal and provided the seed money for the World-Class Wurlitzer we now have in Berkeley.
February Concert at Berkeley

David Wickerham will be our artist at Berkeley Community Theatre for our next public concert Sunday, February 6 at 2:30 PM. Our next Windsheet will have more to say about this fine artist, but one item we learned recently was that he will be relocating to accept the position of Resident Organist at the Millhouse Collection and Museum in Boca Raton, Florida.

Mark Herman Entertains at Nor-Cal's Annual Meeting

by Bob Shiplay with assistance from Art and Evelyn Woodworth

The forty or so of our members who came to the Berkeley Community Theatre for Nor-Cal’s 48th Annual Chapter Business Meeting were treated to a full concert by Mark Herman, a young performer who has fully grasped the fine points of entertaining an audience on the theatre pipe organ. His carefully selected program ranged through the fine tunes of the ’30s through the ’60s, with a few items of more recent vintage that included a composition of his own. He also showed his skills at arranging by providing several tasty and well thought out medleys that helped recall the extensive gifts of some of the great pop tune and show composers of the great years of Broadway shows and musical movies.

Mark rode the stage lift with a version of George Gershwin’s Swanee that included a number of nice variations, registration changes and counter-melodies in the several choruses of that tune. He explained that his interpretation of this piece was influenced by the arrangement of that tune as performed by Al Jolson. Taking a minute or so to review this first tune and introduce his second number, Mark revealed himself to be a pleasant and gracious speaker, thanking those of the Nor-Cal crew and Berkeley Community Theatre staff who had assisted him in preparing for the day’s performance.

His second selection, Rogers and Hart’s Mountain Greenery, was a bouncy but subdued arrangement that put me in the mood of a person taking an old-fashioned sleigh ride in the snow of the late autumn—an apt recollection of what might be a happy activity to pursue in Mark’s home town of Ft. Wayne, Indiana about this time of year. Next, a slow and danceable Ellington original, I Got it Bad and That Ain’t Good combined various smooth registrations on the pipework with harp carrying the melody on an especially delicious chorus.

Mark’s first medley mined a rich vein, the work of Jerome Kern. In an introduction that interpolated in many instantly recognizable phrases from other timeless Kern hits, Mark quickly settled into playing solid arrangements of I Won’t Dance, The Way You Look Tonight, Who (Stole my Heart Away), and ending with The Song is You. We were particularly taken by Mark’s gift of making the transitions between songs, his key changes and changes of registration, mood, and tempo were—musically meaningful. In Mark’s arrangements we were effortlessly guided from one song to the next.

Poinciana, a tune that hints of exotic tropical locales was next, and Mark happily refrained from laying on the “exotic tropical” part too heavily, but stayed with an arrangement that enhanced the haunting melody. Similarly, in Zee Confrey’s Jay Walk, the arrangement Mark developed drew attention to the start-and-stop motion of a walking Jaybird and played down the “finger-buster” aspect of Confrey’s tune.

Disney movie music, with which we all grew up, yielded a delightful medley in Mark’s hands, with Zip-a-Dee-Do Dah, A Whole New World (a duet from Aladdin), Whistle While You Work, and When You Wish Upon a Star combining to bring back happy memories.

A sassy Chicago (that toddlin’ town), up-tempo and syncopated brought the first half to a close.

Mark opened the second half with Gershwin’s Strike Up the Band in an arrangement that reminded me of the subtleties possible in a concert band performance, rather than the strident tone of a marching band. He next took us to the happy place we hold Christmas time to be, with a medley of It’s the Most Wonderful Time of the Year, Away in a Manger, and Winter Wonderland that ended with a coda reprising Wonderful Time.

Next, the Burke/Van Heusen tune Like Someone in Love, in a lovely ballad arrangement that Mark said was inspired by his hearing of the Rosemary Clooney recording. He treated it like a love ballad, with a harp introduction leading to a smooth transition to the chorus that was the main body of the song. His phrasing was a singer’s phrasing. Just right.

It’s hard to pigeonhole Cole Porter into one style of music, and Mark’s selection of tunes for his next medley showed both his versatility and that of this other Indiana native. A big, fast From This Moment On, which was then followed by a surprisingly easy segue to a lush Easy to Love. The percussions then came out in a light, whimsical Let’s Do It (Let’s Fall in Love). A brooding, minor key introduction then led to the heart-tugging I Love You, which was followed by the closing number, a happy, not too brassy Anything Goes.

Through Mark’s remarks between numbers, we were reminded that this young talent was also a very normal and personable high school student who is combining his music studies with the family and school activities that go along with being that age. So, not surprisingly, Mark chose a theme for a piece he had written and next played for us that gave a glimpse of what goes on in the life of a teenager. His Making It to Class On Time, was colorful and brought to mind the sounds of a high school day, with a ticking clock, the end-of-period bell, and the mad dash from class to locker to next class woven together in a composition that was an enjoyable, scurrying, novelty tune.

New Sun in the Sky, a Dietz and Schwartz tune, was new to me, but Mark’s treatment left a clear impression that there was a melody there that ought to be better known. More recognizable (to me) was the ballad Body and Soul which in Mark’s arrangement stayed a ballad and didn’t adopt the trappings of a torch song. Another Confrey number, Dizzy Fingers ended the second half, and for an encore, Mark chose I’ll Be Seeing You which received a romantic, yearning arrangement that reflected this tune’s role in the WWII-era movie of the same name. We think Mark meant this piece to state a wish he had—both to return to entertain us again and also to further explore the wonderful tonal resources of our Wurlitzer.

All who we’ve heard from were similarly taken by his poise, his console technique and easy going nature. This was a very satisfying concert, perhaps the first full concert Mark has performed away from his home chapter, and from a young artist who we do want to see (and hear from) again.
Annual Membership Meeting

Following Mark Herman's fine concert, the Nor-Cal Board, assembled on stage to conduct the 48th Annual Business Meeting of our chapter. Don Siefert, who chaired the meeting, made introductions all-around and reviewed the events of the year. Secretary Art Wooworth's minutes of the prior year's annual meeting were approved as presented, and reports on our membership and Chapter finances were presented. Bill Schlotter reported on the chapter instruments, noting progress on installing additional ranks into the Berkeley Wurlitzer, and also that the Salinas Fox instrument, which must be removed shortly, may soon be moved to a new in-theatre home.

Dave Ogden, chapter member, made a presentation offering several publicity suggestions and offered to head a committee to work on implementing them. Some of the suggestions can be implemented at no cost, others will require funding. Dave did not address how to implement or cover any resulting costs. He is very interested in identifying those among our members who would be willing to help define and then implement a publicity effort that would work to increase awareness of our Berkeley instrument and also to improve attendance at our public concerts.
