ERRATA about April Morton Madness

We had gremlins recently. The date STILL is as originally planned—9 April 2005.

Morton Madness, April 9, and more than ever

With Tom Hazleton giving two concerts Saturday April 9 and—next day—Walter Strong entertaining at the Morton in the restored Stockton Fox, now renamed Fox Bob Hope Theatre, many theatre organ enthusiasts are making travel plans to attend this wonderful musical weekend in Sierra Chapter's territory. Don't miss out!!

The Saturday April 9 Morton Madness tickets are now available from Jack O'Neill, Nor-Cal TOS, P.O. Box 27238, Oakland, CA 94502-0438. Telephone 510/632-9177. The price is $45 for the two full-length concerts with Tom Hazleton and dinner. Payment is by check or VISA/MasterCard. One concert is at Wynelands in Lodi, the other at Ironstone Winery in Murphys after a delicious dinner there, including Ironstone's wine.

Order now: By return mail you'll receive tickets to both concerts and the dinner and instructions on how to get to the venues with the times the performances start.

Still want more Morton music? The next day, Sunday April 10, the Bob Hope Theatre in Stockton (Stockton Fox) will host a concert with Walter (continued on Page three)
David Wickerham Concert Review
(Many thanks to Art and Evelyn Woodworth for providing this month’s concert recap)

Arriving concert-goers were greeted by a wonderful display of autos parked in the courtyard in front of Berkeley Community Theatre. There were vintage Packards from the Packard Club (thanks to Warren Lubich) and shiny Mercedes Benz from the Mercedes Club (thanks to Bill Lordge). Besides these auto club members, our ranks were swelled by a busload of Sierra Chapter members, thanks to Dave Sauer. Further, this was the first concert for Nor-Cal’s “First Time Free” program.

The larger than usual crowd enthusiastically greeted Dave Wickerham’s opener, That’s Entertainment linked with Another Op’tin’, Another Show. Dave thanked the audience for their applause and said that playing the Nor-Cal Wurlitzer was like the first line of his next number. The line in question was Heaven, I’m in heaven... from Irving Berlin’s Cheek to Cheek. Dave played with a strong, lively beat and a number of key changes. He then spoke a bit about theatre organs, mentioning the various tuned and untuned percussions. He then played Scott Joplin’s Original Rags, using many percussions in a tasteful manner.

Slowing the pace of the music, Dave next played Deep Purple and Smoke Gets In Your Eyes. Both used the chorus reeds along with the vibras and voxes. He said he next would play a medley containing his most requested song. From the movie The Wizard of Oz, the medley included We’re Off To See the Wizard interlaced with Follow the Yellow Brick Road, If I Only Had A Brain, the monkey guard’s marching chant, the tornado music, and (obviously the most requested song), Somewhere Over the Rainbow.

Dave said his next medley would be for the car-club members, and that the last number would be rather obscure. The songs were Chitty Chitty Bang Bang, In My Merry Oldsmobile, Tiffany Taxi, and He’d Have to Get Under, Get Out and Get Under (To Fix Up His Automobile). The organ registrations for the Oldsmobile included the sounds of a calliope and an orchestra. Dave said his next number would be Petula Clark meets Louis Vienne. It was a delightful, slightly tongue in cheek classical organ improvisation on Downtown. He finished the first half with a rousing rendition of Strauss’ Radetsky March.

Dave brought the console back up with Put on a Happy Face and I Want To Be Happy. He announced that this was the birthday of Richard Simmons, the national president of the Mercedes Car Club. Dave played Happy Birthday for the audience to sing along with, and then continued with some interesting variations on the theme including “heavy organ.”

From George Gershwin’s score for the George White’s Scandals of 1920, Dave played The Scandal Walk, a bouncy, late-ragtime style tune.

From The Sound of Music we heard The Sound of Music, My Favorite Things, Edelweiss, Do-Re-Mi, Sixteen Going on Seventeen, Lonely Goatherd, Maria, and Climb Ev’ry Mountain. This was a well-arranged and orchestrated medley, with beautiful and appropriate transitions between songs. One could tell how much the audience enjoyed it from the long round of applause.

Dave’s next number was a “modern” rag, Max Morath’s Polyragmic Rag from 1964. His next to final number was what he described as a “tribute to the north and south.” It included Battle Hymn of the Republic (several times during the set), When Johnny Comes Marching Home, symphonic variations on Taps, Yankee Doodle in Scottish pipe band style, The Battle Cry of Freedom, and Dixie. The conclusion was Battle Hymn played with both feet on the pedals. Dave finished his program with the march from the Morny Python Show, which is John Philip Sousa’s Liberty Bell March.

After a well-deserved standing ovation, Dave played a classical number, John Bull’s Rondo in G. His playing included two feet on the pedals, sometimes crossed, and a cymbalstern effect. At the end of the Rondo, Dave turned on the trems and brought down the console with Happy Trails, ending with the last line of San Francisco. This was a great concert and the audience thoroughly enjoyed it.

We had a wonderful concert at Berkeley on February 6th by David Wickerham. The concert was a huge success in many ways. Number one was, of course, David’s outstanding musicianship. We also had the added pleasure of having two different car clubs join us for the day. It was great fun to view some of the classic cars parked on the courtyard before the show and at intermission.

It was also the beginning of our “First timers 4 Free” program. We had fifty new faces come through the door as first time guests. Most were brought by friends, who reported that their guests had a very nice time.

Despite it being Super Bowl Sunday, and even after giving out 50 First Timers free tickets, we sold out of our regular printed tickets and came away with an actual profit at the box office. This is the first time in months, if not years, that we finished in the black after a public concert.

Hopefully we can continue this success. Please consider bringing a friend to our next concert. It’s their first-time they get in for free.

Coming up soon is the legendary “MORTON MADNESS”. If any of you have never attended one of these truly unique events, you owe yourself the treat of joining us. There is nothing like it presented anywhere else in the world. Two full concerts by a top artist (Tom Hazleton this year) at two wonderful venues. The first is a “magical musical” barn located in the middle of a peaceful valley vineyard. The second at a spectacular multi-million dollar winery situated in California’s famous and beautiful “gold country”. Along with all this is included an elegant dinner in the hill top Ironstone winery music room. I like to call it, “A day of valleys, vineyards, vistas, and very vivacious Mortons.”

Jonas Nordwall

The design and manufacturing of both pipe and electronic organs are a passion for Jonas. Since 1966 he was affiliated with the Rodgers Instrument Corporation in many capacities. He is a frequent recitalist and clinician; a design, manufacturing and marketing consultant; and instrumental in the development of the control concepts for the classical organ world to enter the Twenty-first Century via the use of MIDI. He has consulted on many organs by various builders and was selected to supervise the installation of the former Conjovie Hall custom 5-manual Rodgers organ into its new home in the Arlene Schnitzer Concert Hall in Portland, Oregon. Jonas was the artist for both the solo and orchestral inaugural concerts of this famous organ.
