MARK HERMAN RETURNS!

Sunday, November 3, 2013 — BCT Stage Door Concert at 2:30 PM
Careful -- DStime went off at 2 AM this morning

NorCal members will be delighted to learn that our artist on November 3rd will be one of our very favorites — Mark Herman.

Besides his wonderful and fresh playing, Mark has been an especial favorite of NorCal ever since he got his ATOS start playing a Cameo Appearance at the NorCal sponsored 2003 ATOS Convention in Oakland.

The following year Mark won the Young Theatre Organist Competition, and in 2012 was named ATOS Artist of the Year, the youngest artist ever to be so honor.

Mark has played concerts all over the USA, and has made two multi-week tours of New Zealand and Australia after his Cameo.

Now living in Indianapolis, he is a website designer and digital marketing specialist. He also is affiliated with the Allen Organ Company as a tonal consultant and voicing specialist.

This will be the third time Mark has played our Wurlitzer, but many of us also heard him at the 2008 Ironstone Pops.

Some of us consider Mark as almost one of our own — and indeed, he is NorCal member.

So it is with great pleasure we welcome the Mark Herman back!

Please use the Stage Door Entrance at 1930 Allston Way [Unfortunately, this concert, like all On Stage Concerts is open ONLY to NorCal Members and their Guests. Others who wish to hear Mark may join NorCal for $20 plus the usual $15 ticket fee.]

Open House at
Kevin King's
 Featuring
 Kevin's Wurlitzer 3/18
 August 11, 2013

Many NorCal TOS members have been aware for several years that Kevin King was assembling the necessities to build a first class theatre pipe organ at his home in Walnut Creek. Some of us knew that he had purchased the console and some of the pipework that used to constitute the former Bella Roma Pizza restaurant in Martinez.

A few of us knew that he was having a special room for the organ built behind his house, and just a few people had enjoyed the chance to visit the several-year project.

Finally, we were all invited to an informal Open House, a mini-Concert, and an Open Console, as the project neared completion!

In the August Windsheet you read in Kevin's own words some of the description of the restored organ and its new home (or if you didn't, you can enjoy the article and photo in our Windsheet Archives on our website, www.norcaltos.org).

The Open House was indeed informal and Kevin was the perfect host, allowing us plenty of time to tour the chamber and the exposed ranks and traps. He told us even more about the project and showed off the organ and its many components.

Then Kevin performed an enjoyable and instructive mini concert, playing a program that demonstrated the use of the piano, the accordion mounted on the wall, some of the special effects, and particularly, the rich and varied voices of the pipes.

The separate music room structure includes an isolated blower room and has a 16 ft. peaked ceiling, which still required some of the longest pipes to be mitered (meaning that the pipe must be bent at the top to fit the room.). The resulting acoustics are amazingly good, for the total size of the room (which is still slightly larger than my house!).

Kevin opened with a 1927 lush Gershwin number from Rosalie called How Long Has This Been Going On. This was followed by the 1930 Cole Porter ballad, Love For Sale, following the George Wright arrangement, which he performed beautifully, and which made excellent use of the upright piano in the accompaniment. Then it was the accordion's turn to receive the spotlight, which Kevin did by playing Josephine (Gus Kahn, 1936). Then came Vincent Youmans' 1929 classic, More Than You Know, followed by another 'steal' from George Wright, Duke Ellington's 1937 Caravan, ending it with a most effective gong! Kevin's final number was a stunning performance of yet another George Wright arrangement, Veradero, which requires very deft fingering, indeed!

Following Kevin, Gordon Pratt told us some stories about his organist duties while in the U.S. Army, and played several numbers.

Then Jerry Nagano played a medley of Small Hotel (from On Your Toes, by Richard Rodgers, 1936), a nice, upbeat number that I should have remembered, but didn't, and A Nightingale Sang In Berkeley Square (Manning Sherwin, 1940). He finished with I Can't Give You Anything But Love, Baby (Jimmy McHugh, 1928).

The rest of the afternoon was managed by our Events Chairman, Gordon Pratt, who introduced several NorCal members who are regular attendees of our monthly Open House sessions at the Berkeley Community Theatre, including Art Woodworth, Don Seifert, Craig Browning, Don Ravey, Jeff Porto, Wayne Joseph and Bert Atwood.

Regrettably, I needed to leave the festivities before several others played. I really wish I had been able to stay longer to hear Warren Lubich and Bill Langford, especially. I apologize to any whom I missed.

I was able to record about an hour and a half of video of the organ installation, demonstration, and some of the playing, before my battery died, and this will soon be available on our website, under Photo and Video Galleries.

What Does Your NorCal Membership Buy?

This question comes up quite often. Basically memberships fall into two categories: Full ATOS membership and Friends of NorCal.

The full membership is $60 and includes all of ATOS activities, their outstanding glossy magazine, and supports Theatre Organ activities in general.

Friends of NorCal Membership, at $20, includes all persons at your address, and entitles you to all NorCal Activities, to vote (one vote per membership) in NorCal issues, and supports NorCal activities in general.

Because NorCal dues do not cover our program expenses (primarily artist's fees and travel) we do have a fee for programs, generally $15 per person.

ORGAN UPDATES

As most of you already know, every Saturday a work crew gets together at Berkeley Community Theatre to perform preventative maintenance on our mighty Wurlitzer. The organ has become very reliable due to the diligence of the work crew. But some other work activities have been put on hold until now.

The organ is about to grow a little larger. Five ranks of the organ still have additional pipes that have not been installed.

These large pipes are called offset pipes, since they are too large to be put on the main organ chests. The ranks affected are the 16-ft Tromba, 16-ft Viola Diapason, 8-ft Salicional and Salicional Celeste, and the 8-ft French Horn.

Currently, the crew is cleaning the pipes, removing dents, straightening bent pipes, patching up holes and fixing broken solder joints. They will look like new when finished. After the pipes are restored the fun begins. The offset chests will be installed, winded, wired to the relay, and the pipes will be voiced and tuned.

In addition, when we received the Toledo organ at Berkeley we discovered that seven resonators of the 16-ft Tuba Horn were missing. They were apparently not put on the truck when it was packed for shipping back here. When we contacted the donor, they checked but the resonators could not be found. Another set of resonators was purchased to replace the missing parts. Not too long ago the original resonators were found and sent to us. We have been cleaning these and will install them in the organ so that the entire 16-foot offset will contain the original Toledo pipes.
