

Case Study 1: Elections Data (Workbook: 2014ElectionResults.xlsx)

India is the largest democratic country in the World consisting 29 States and Seven Union Territories. In India for every five years people elect their representatives to The Parliament – a Supreme Legislative body in India. In the year 2014 General Elections were conducted to 543 Lok Sabha (House of People) Seats. In all 8,974 candidates contested for 543 seats. Approximately 554 million people casted votes to elect their representatives, elections were conducted in 29 states and Seven Union Territories. 2014ElectionResults.xlsx worksheet provides you complete data.

Using this data set

1. Find out which constituency is won by which Political Party and how many seats won by each Political Party in each state.
2. List contested candidates in each constituency and calculate the percentage of votes polled to each of them (Constituency wise) for all the 543 constituencies.