

Data Analytics using PivotTable

Present day organizations are flooded with data. They are sourcing data from multiple facets. All these data is churned as a part of business intelligence or data analytics to derive meaningful information. The information is used to make successful business decisions.

In this context, there is a great opportunity waiting for data analysts or data scientists. Organizations are in continuous search to identify and hire data analysts who can churn legions of data in few minutes or hours. McKinsey consulting reports that, by 2018 there will be shortage of 1.5 million managers and analysts. Not believable. Ask Google or Job portals, you will find plethora of openings. Join this course and get one.

The course Data Analytics using PivotTable is designed to make you grab Data Analyst / Data Scientist – The Sexiest job of 21st century.

PivotTable reports are widely used to sort, summarize, group, filter, and analyze data at various level. This course contains 36 video classes that explain you the nuances of PivotTable reports from basics to advanced level. There are two case studies videos at the end of the course. All these video classes are prepared using real time business data.

To augment your learning, related excel workbooks, lecture notes in PDF, and chapter wise assignments are included. Furthermore, you will get online support through course FB page. Future upgradations are provided at free of cost.