Together, We Achieve!

At the beginning of 2025, invigorated by the greatly improved health status of our Chief Essential Oiler and President, the Board approved a strategy to jump-start CENSUDI from her long period of dormancy. A major item on this strategy was a drive to raise cash for the purchase of a vehicle to facilitate movement. This effort raised Twelve thousand dollars ($12,000) in 30 days which was used as down payment for the purchase of the vehicle. Our sincere gratitude to all who contributed to this effort promptly. Insert is a picture of Ms. Barbara Wuest, who readily kickstarted our vehicle purchase campaign with her first donation. She is standing by the vehicle that we purchased.

Mega thanks to Ms. Wuest and all those who followed in her generous footsteps.

Since the purchase, Woman Art Ghana and Global Artisans (WAGGA) has used the vehicle to deposit an additional six thousand nine hundred fifty-five and seventy-eight cents ($6,955.78) from sales of artisanal goods. These fair-trade activities also benefited artisans from the communities we work with, notably cancer patients and survivors who are also artisans.

WAGGA and CENSUDI are very active in fairly trading these artisanal goods primarily from May to October, i.e., late Spring, all of Summer and early Autumn, when Farmers Markets are active. Typically, we offer higher than market prices for the goods our artisans produce and better access to international markets through our physical presence in the USA. Another way we guarantee access to these markets for our artisans is by working with them to develop new products that meet evolving customer needs whilst helping us stay competitive and grow.

For our cancer patients and survivors in particular, creating these items is a necessary distraction from their deteriorating health conditions. Furthermore, the steady income earned enables them to continue fighting their disease, for their daily family upkeep and to save for their kids in event they are no longer here.
