

HERO'S JOURNEY THROUGH DIVORCE

THE HERO IS YOU!

© Stella Papadopoulos

THE CALL TO ADVENTURE

You feel alone, empty inside, the happiness is gone. To stay married means to remain miserable. You are thinking of turning your whole world upside down. You think about releasing yourself and your husband and admit that this marriage isn't working ... you find yourself at a crossroad

REFUSAL OF THE CALL

You keep finding reasons to remain in what is familiar. But you know things have to change.

MEET YOUR MENTOR

You begin searching for direction and support to make your life happier and fulfilling. You have come to the difficult decision to divorce and realize it is time. My journal "I'm Getting Divorced-Where Do I Start?" can be your guidebook.

CROSS THE THRESHOLD

You choose to move forward. Evaluate new possibilities.

TESTS

You go deeper into the quiet places of your mind as you face new challenges. Even though they shake you up. They challenge everything you've ever believed your life would become, and you begin second-guessing your choice. You start losing faith in yourself and question your ability to navigate this new life.

FACE YOUR FEARS

You go through a dark night of the soul, you sob and ask why this is happening, and torture yourself over every choice you made in your marriage, playing all the "what if" scenarios.

TRANSFORMATION

Then you see the light after the darkness. A shift occurs, and as it unfolds you see your new life clearly. You know you made the right choice. You are listening to your soul. You realize that this is a defining moment. You begin to reinvent yourself and you are so energized.

Newfound courage wells up inside you helping you to face your fears and overcome your challenges. You emerge transformed and renewed.

THE ROAD BACK

You're creating your new home. Just because things are different doesn't mean that they aren't beautiful. You have greater wisdom and knowledge and are making a happier life.

REBIRTH & REDEDICATION

Divorce is a new beginning, the journey to your best life yet! Now you can reap the rewards from all your hard work and planning.

