Confidentiality

- Stone Pine is committed to keeping all private or business matters of the client confidential, especially since intimate discussions may arise during our travels. We take your personal information seriously and uphold this duty even after the contract ends. Of course, we also expect the same level of respect and confidentiality from you towards fellow travelers.

Obligations of the Participants

- All participants will receive detailed information for preparation, including equipment requirements. Being outdoors means being prepared for any situation. Requirements regarding endurance and technique are outlined on the website of Stone Pine.
- Participants commit to mutual respect, helpfulness within the group, and environmentally conscious, consensus-driven behavior. In case of an incident, participants must not disclose any details to the public without prior consultation with the tour guides.
- Participants are responsible for ensuring they are informed about passport, visa, and health regulations, as well as any changes before traveling.

Travel Insurance:

- We highly recommend that all participants take out comprehensive travel insurance to cover unforeseen events, cancellations, or medical emergencies during the trip.

Health and Accident Insurance:

- Participants are responsible for obtaining their own health and accident insurance for the duration of the trip. We strongly recommend that you ensure your insurance covers medical emergencies, accidents, and any potential evacuation needs during your stay.

- Stone Pine is not liable for any medical expenses, injuries, or accidents that may occur during the trip.
- Please make sure your insurance is valid for travel in Switzerland and covers the entire duration of the program.

Changes to the Program:

- The program will take place in all weather conditions.
- We reserve the right to make minor changes to the itinerary or program details if necessary. In the event of major changes, we will notify participants well in advance.

Liability:

- Stone Pine is not liable for any personal injury, loss, or damage incurred during the trip unless caused by negligence on our part. Participants must adhere to all safety guidelines provided by the guides and staff.

Health and Fitness Requirements:

- Participants should be in good health and able to partake in moderate physical activities such as walking and light hiking. If you have specific health concerns, please inform us prior to booking (see below).
- By booking, participants confirm they meet the requirements for the respective offer. If a participant does not meet the requirements and causes additional costs, they are responsible for covering these expenses. For safety reasons, they may also be excluded from the tour, with no right to a refund.

Travel Documents:

- It is the responsibility of each participant to ensure they have the correct and valid travel documents (passport, visa, etc.) for the trip.

Force Majeure:

- In the event of unforeseen circumstances such as natural disasters, political unrest, or other significant disruptions, we reserve the right to alter or cancel the program as necessary. We will make every effort to ensure that you are provided with an alternative solution, depending on the situation.

Jurisdiction, Applicable Law

- The jurisdiction is Zurich. Swiss substantive law applies.

Final Provisions:

- If any provisions of these terms are found to be invalid, the validity of the remaining provisions shall not be affected.
- The invalid provision shall be replaced with a valid provision that comes closest to the economic purpose of the original.

We look forward to welcoming you on this exceptional journey. Should you have any further questions or wish to proceed with your booking, please do not hesitate to contact us.

Warm regards,
Stone Pine Travel Team
