

THE ORCHESTRA

Performing in Greenville since 2000, Foothills Philharmonic is committed to providing high-quality, classical music performances to the Upstate community free of charge. The orchestra is an all-volunteer orchestra made up of accomplished non-professional musicians from the Upstate region of South Carolina. Orchestra membership includes individuals from many walks of life including part-time musicians, teachers, lawyers, business professionals, and homemakers.

Kory Vrieze is the Orchestra's Artistic Director and Conductor. Membership in Foothills Philharmonic is open to amateur and professional musicians. Avocational musicians are welcome and no audition is required (although training in youth orchestra, college orchestra, professional orchestra, or a concert band is suggested as necessary experience.)

NEW HORIZONS
HEALTHCARE
Solutions for a healthy community.

As our country battles various forms of substance abuse (such as the Opioid epidemic), find out more about ways you can help those in need of help.

Just because you do not play an instrument does not mean that you can't be a part of a community orchestra! In fact, you might be surprised at all of the opportunities that exist!

Financing a community orchestra is no small task, especially when our goal is to provide concerts free of charge.

Because of this, our philosophy as an organization is to help everyone who partners with us to receive as much in return as possible. From competitive pricing in concert program ads to publicity on our website, we do what we can to recognize those who choose to partner with us.

Because of the amount of money that is involved in order to be a sponsor, the number of benefits are significant.

These recognitions are designed to provide excellent marketing value and public relations with the community.

As an organization, we do this as a thank you for supporting us in such a significant way. Each of these benefits are designed to capture the attention of our supporters and recognize the significant impact that each sponsor has had over the course of the season.
