

Personal Development Speaker, former Barbados International Rugby player, and Social Justice Director... with lots of failure and honest evaluation along the way.

Marlo Clarke,

INTENTIONAL RISK TAKER

“ Marlo is a poet-philosopher and offers clarity of vision, purpose, authenticity, and problem-solving strategies. His ideas lead us to a simple, peaceful, fully lived life. I see myself and my place, people and time with more clarity and resonance for having been a witness to Marlo’s presentation.”

— Jim Estes, Psychologist

Focused on individuals asking themselves, "What's next?", Marlo’s captivating storytelling and well balanced humour take your audience on a journey that offers a clear and confident way forward.

HOW WAS YOUR DAY, TODAY? - A SIMPLE SUCCESS CHECKLIST.

We all want to accomplish something. Whether it’s advancing in our careers, building better relationships, or excelling in sports and hobbies. All are worthy goals, but the route we take in pursuing these goals can maximize or minimize our success. Through his work in human services, Marlo has developed his five principles for self-defined success. These principles break down how to excel in any pursuit at the most basic level and can help members of any audience tackle their goals with renewed energy.

WHAT NOW? WHAT NEXT?

It happens to all of us. We make a decision to act, put all of our passion and effort behind that action, and we fail. This failure is not final; it is simply feedback. How we react to this feedback can determine our path for future success and overall contentment. Marlo explores the cycle of success through failure, while clearly and energetically providing tools anyone can use. Learn to intentionally follow your passion, evaluate negative feedback, and embrace the power of vulnerability. Working together, we will solve two equations to give more clarity to each individual’s purpose:
Passion + Intention = Purpose
Time + Energy+ Money = Purpose
