Origin Story

A Creative Design That Redefined Golf Towels

NO DIRT GOLF was founded by two college teammates who sought out to combine two golf essentials into a single product. The end result? A high-performance golf towel with a club brush built into the corner - a simple tool designed to clean grooves fast and actually keep them that way.

They used their first prototype round after round for an entire season, then the comments started:

“You should sell these.” So They did.

One simple improvement to a product that has been alongside the game for over a century, from there, NO DIRT GOLF was born, paired with the only name that made sense for a clean golf game.

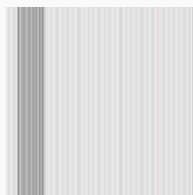

Today, NDG towels are in pro shops at over 2,500 courses, Every PGA Tour superstore nationwide, and is one of the fastest growing golf accessory brands in the U.S. What started as two golfer’s solution is now a standard for golfers who care about clean grooves and real performance.
