Dear <<First Name>> ,

As July rolls in and the days grow warmer, our team at Olive Tree Projects remains hard at work supporting women and families in Jacmel. From safe births and newborn care to postpartum check-ins and prenatal exercise classes, we continue to focus on what matters most: improving maternal and infant health. Here’s a look at what we’ve been up to in June.

PRENATAL EDUCATION AND EXERCISE

Prenatal education and exercise classes aren’t common in Haiti—but at Olive Tree Projects, we believe every woman deserves access to this kind of care. That’s why we offer weekly prenatal classes and guided exercise sessions to women in Jacmel and the surrounding areas, creating a space where they can learn, move, and feel supported throughout pregnancy.

Each week, we welcome an average of 25 women to prenatal classes and 20 to our outdoor exercise sessions—filling our clinic and balcony with energy, strength, and community. Thanks to your support, we’re able to offer a first-class experience to women who often have the least access to quality care. Please consider continuing your support by becoming a monthly donor so we can keep showing up for these families, every step of the way.

Birth & Patient Registration Update:

- Babies born in June: 8
- New patients: 39

Emergency Simulation:

Emergencies don’t come with warnings—which is why regular simulation drills are such a key part of our work. This month, our team ran a hands-on training to practice responding to eclampsia, a life-threatening pregnancy complication. From recognizing the first signs to coordinating a hospital transfer, our midwives and nurses moved through each step with focus and urgency. These drills help us stay prepared so that when seconds matter, we’re ready.

Special Visit:

A family who gave birth at our clinic six months ago stopped by to say hello and thank our midwives and nurses for the compassionate care they received throughout their journey. Hearing their appreciation firsthand was a powerful reminder of how meaningful family-centered care can be.

We’re grateful to our donors and partners who make this work possible. Your support allows us to walk alongside families every step of the way—through pregnancy, birth, and beyond.

Our Family Support Program (FSP) currently supports 18 families. Before heading out on a month-long internship in the outskirts of Les Cayes, one of our older beneficiaries, Jean-Louis—currently studying nursing—met with our Family Support Officer for some guidance and encouragement. He left Jacmel on Friday, June 27th, as part of his school’s program, and we’re proud to see him taking this next step in his journey toward a career in healthcare.

On June 21st, 16 of our 18 Family Support Program beneficiaries came together for a life lessons activity focused on health and wellbeing. With support from our midwifery staff—and even a few older FSP participants—sessions covered topics like nutritious eating, STI prevention and symptoms, and stress management, with a psychologist on hand to offer guidance and coping techniques. While the teens engaged in these discussions, the younger children took part in creative activities of their own.

Support Olive Tree Projects in its life-saving work—your donation helps provide essential care and resources that change lives for mothers, children, and families in Haiti.
