Founders' Message

CHAINBREAKERS ARISE: THE CALL TO RISE UP AND BUILD GENERATIONAL LEGACY

Dear ChainBreakers,

Welcome to the RiseUp Wealth Summit: ChainBreakers Arise!

It is with great honor and excitement that my wife and I, as the founders of Legacy Lives Here Inc., welcome you to this transformative gathering. This summit is more than just an event—it is a divine call to action. A call for every visionary, every leader, every family builder, and every generational pioneer to stand up, break free, and take ownership of the legacy we are meant to leave behind.

We live in a time where the weight of financial bondage, limited mindsets, and generational struggles have kept too many of us from walking in the fullness of our God-given potential. But today, that cycle ends! Today, we ARISE. Not just for ourselves, but for our families, our communities, and the generations that will come after us.

The urgency is now. The days of waiting for change to come are over—we are the change-makers. We must become intentional about shifting the trajectory of our families by embracing financial literacy, building wealth with purpose, and walking boldly in our assignment. No longer will we accept lack, stagnation, or delay. Instead, we declare that we are the ones who will establish new financial foundations, create generational opportunities, and build a lasting legacy that echoes beyond our time.

Throughout this summit, you will hear from powerful speakers, engage with thought leaders, and receive the tools you need to take action. But knowledge alone is not enough—we must commit to implementation. We must move from inspiration to activation. This is our moment to break the chains of financial limitations, self-doubt, and fear, and to rise up as the wealth-builders, visionaries, and leaders our families need.

We pray that you leave this summit empowered, equipped, and ignited with a renewed sense of purpose. This is your time to arise! Your legacy is calling—will you answer?

With purpose and power,
Glenn & Afiesha Payne

Renee-Bianca "Stichiz" Casseus

THE ICONIC VOICE OF CULTURE, COMMUNITY, & CHANGE

When you think of Miami's most influential voices, Renee-Bianca Casseus also known to most as "Stichiz" is a name that stands out. A powerhouse in entertainment, radio, and community advocacy, she's more than just an artist—she's a movement.

From her roots in Ottawa to her upbringing in South Florida, this Canadian-Haitian American force has blended her culture, talent, and faith into a career that continues to inspire and uplift. Whether she's on stage, on air, or in the community, one thing is clear: Stichiz is using her voice for something bigger than herself..

Faith, Family, and the Power of Purpose

"Truly, I have to give God all the glory!" Stichiz says with conviction. Her journey, she insists, is not just about talent but about purpose. Raised in a home where faith, education, and strong values were the foundation, she credits her upbringing for keeping her grounded. "That foundation shaped me into the person I am today. It's what drives me to use my platform to make a real difference."

A Sound as Diverse as Her Roots

Stichiz's music is a true reflection of who she is—vibrant, multicultural, and limitless. Fluent in French, English, and Creole, she naturally infuses all three languages into her music, creating a unique sound that knows no borders. "I grew up listening to everything—hip-hop, soul, rock, reggae, compas, pop—so my music reflects all those influences," she shares.

Her talent doesn't stop at music. From a young age, she had a knack for mimicking accents, which led her to voice acting. That same ability to shape-shift vocally has made her a staple in entertainment, giving her the versatility to captivate audiences in many ways. By God's grace Stichiz says she's was approached to be the voice of a major sports network in Canada, making history as being the first woman to do this for the network.

Stichiz can also be seen and heard on The CW - The Connect Network TV - Dallas / Miami where she serves as a TV Host, NBC 6 during the weekend where she sits along side notable news anchor Constance Jones sharing weekly community events.

The Global
Voice: 103.5
The BEAT

The Iconic Woman OF THE YEAR

"Music is part of life- find your note in it, and play it well not just for yourself but others"

Stichiz is also the creator of her weekly TV show "This Is Our Future With Stichiz" where her and her team are blessed with the opportunity to highlight youth and mentors doing amazing things "just sharing some good news in the midst of your day" is what Stichiz likes to say "all by God's grace."

The Global Voice: 103.5 The BEAT

For many, Stichiz's voice is a daily soundtrack to their lives. As the midday bae on 103.5 The BEAT, Miami's home for hip-hop and R&B, she's more than just a radio personality—she's a connector. Whether she's introducing the hottest tracks or tackling real-world issues, and interviewing community members she brings a mix of energy, authenticity, and heart to the airwaves. "Music is part of life- find your note in it, and play it well not just for yourself but others" she says. Stichiz can also be heard on various stations across the world.

Lifting the Next Generation

While her career keeps her in the spotlight, Stichiz is just as passionate about working behind the scenes to uplift others—especially young people. She's the author of "Tu Es Belle: You Are Beautiful: Abby's Great Day," a children's book that promotes loving who God created you to be, confidence and respect. "I want kids to know whatever color God gave you, Tu Es Belle- You Are Beautiful- if we don't accept or see that at a young age within ourselves how can we begin to appreciate others," she says.

She's also hands-on with organizations like Girls Make Beats, which gives young girls the opportunity to explore music production and DJing.

And with other organizations such as The Dr Martin Luther King Celebration Committee, The Scholarship Plug her non profit Project TEACH / Prayz Foundation (newly founded to help support those affected by disasters through what Stichiz calls a God given vision and word (Praise•Praise•Provide) and through programs like Express Yourself Teen Open Mic a monthly program led by God.

Stichiz and her dream team put together, which provides a platform for youth to express their God given talent and learn from other industry professionals- Stichiz says by God's grace she only hopes to serve as a beacon of hope and a battery charge to help push others to where they are called to be and most importantly being a vessel to share the word and love of Christ wherever she is placed.

What It Means to Be 'Iconic'

Being named Iconic Woman of the Year is a moment Stichiz deeply appreciates—but in true Stichiz fashion, she redirects the praise. "I truly appreciate the honor, but when I hear the word 'icon,' I cringe a little," she laughs. "At the end of the day, this isn't about me—it's about what God is doing through me. If people see the impact and it leads them back to Him, then I'm doing what I'm meant to do."

More Than a Title—A Legacy in Motion

Whether she's on the radio, in the studio, or out in the community, Stichiz is a force of impact. She's proof that when talent meets purpose, real change happens. And as she continues to break barriers and elevate others, one thing is certain—her voice will continue to be a powerful instrument for culture, community, and change.

“At the end of the day, this isn't about me—it's about what God is doing through me.”

Securing Your Legacy: The Power of Wills, Trusts, and Real Estate

Attorney Tamar Hamilton
CONTRIBUTOR

Legacy is more than wealth—it is the lasting impact we leave on our loved ones and the generations to come. Yet, too often, families are left scrambling when a loved one passes without a plan in place. As an attorney specializing in wills, trusts, and real estate, I have witnessed firsthand the chaos and heartbreak that can unfold when people fail to secure their legacy. Estate planning isn't just for the wealthy; it is a responsibility every individual should take seriously. Without a plan, you leave the fate of your assets, your family's security, and your hard-earned real estate in the hands of the courts.

A will is the most basic yet crucial document in estate planning. It ensures that your assets—your home, savings, and valuables—are distributed according to your wishes. Without a will, the state determines who inherits your property, often leading to lengthy legal battles and unintended consequences. I have seen families torn apart by disputes that could have been avoided with a simple, well-crafted will. Your legacy should not be left to chance. Trusts take estate planning a step further, offering more control and protection over your assets.

A properly structured trust can help you avoid probate, minimize estate taxes, and ensure a seamless transition of wealth. Whether you want to provide for a special needs child, protect your assets from creditors, or ensure your grandchildren's education, a trust can be tailored to your unique needs.

Real estate is often the most valuable asset in an estate, yet it is also the most vulnerable to legal complications. Without proper planning, property can become entangled in court proceedings, delayed in transfer, or even lost to creditors. Deeds, ownership structures, and trusts play a critical role in ensuring that your home, vacation property, or investment real estate is passed down efficiently and protected from unnecessary taxation. Real estate isn't just about buildings and land—it's about the memories and security they provide for your family.

One of the most rewarding aspects of my work is helping families secure their future with confidence. Estate planning is not just about wealth—it is about ensuring that your children are cared for, your values are honored, and your life's work continues to benefit your loved ones. It is a gift of peace of mind sparing your family from unnecessary stress and financial burdens.

Taking action now prevents regret later. The power of legacy lies not only in what we leave behind but in how we prepare for the inevitable. Procrastination is the enemy of security. Too often, I meet clients who wish they had acted sooner—families struggling to untangle a loved one's affairs, assets lost due to poor planning, and children left in limbo because guardianship wasn't established. The best time to secure your legacy is today, while you have the clarity and control to make informed decisions.

I urge you to think beyond the present and take steps to safeguard your legacy. A will, a trust, and proper real estate planning are not luxuries—they are necessities. Don't wait for a life-changing event to remind you of their importance. Protecting your family, your assets, and your values is the ultimate act of love and responsibility.

"Legacy is more than wealth—it's the impact we leave behind. Without a plan, you risk leaving your family's future in the hands of the courts instead of your own."

Proven Strategies for Breaking Financial Chains & Building Legacy

Glenn Payne

Generational wealth is not built by accident—it is the result of intentional strategy, financial discipline, and a mindset shift. As a financial expert and believer in biblical principles, I have seen firsthand how faith and sound financial wisdom can break chains of poverty and stagnation. This article will explore proven strategies to rise above financial limitations, drawing insights from renowned experts like Dave Ramsey, Robert Kiyosaki, and Anthony O'Neal, while grounding our approach in the unshakable foundation of God's Word.

1. Renewing the Mind: The First Step to Financial Freedom

The battle for financial breakthrough begins in the mind. Romans 12:2 urges us:

"Do not conform to the pattern of this world, but be transformed by the renewing of your mind. Then you will be able to test and approve what God's will is—His good, pleasing, and perfect will."

To break free from generational financial struggles, we must shift from a scarcity mindset to an abundance mindset. Dave Ramsey teaches the power of budgeting and living within one's means, emphasizing that financial freedom is more about behavior than income. Anthony O'Neal reinforces this by urging young people to avoid debt traps early on.

Practical Steps:

- Challenge limiting beliefs about money.
- Replace fear-driven financial habits with faith-driven financial principles.
- Educate yourself and your family on wealth-building principles.

Legacy Etched in Systems, Not Just Songs

2. Mastering Money: Debt Elimination and Cash Flow Control

Proverbs 22:7 warns, "The rich rule over the poor, and the borrower is slave to the lender." Debt keeps many families in bondage, limiting their ability to build wealth. Dave Ramsey's Baby Steps method has helped millions achieve financial freedom by focusing on debt snowballing, emergency savings, and investing.

Robert Kiyosaki, in Rich Dad, Poor Dad, emphasizes understanding the difference between assets and liabilities. The key is not just earning money but making money work for you.

Proven Strategies:

Follow the Debt Snowball Method: Pay off smallest debts first, then roll those payments into larger ones.

Build an emergency fund to avoid future debt traps.

ChainBreakers Arise: Proven Strategies for Breaking Financial Chains & Building Legacy

Live by the 80/20 principle: Save and invest at least 20% of your income.

3. Generational Wealth: Investing and Legacy Planning

Proverbs 13:22 states, "A good man leaves an inheritance to his children's children." The goal is not just personal financial freedom but a legacy of wealth and wisdom for future generations.

Robert Kiyosaki stresses the importance of passive income through investments, real estate, and businesses. Wealth isn't built on wages alone—it's built on assets that generate income long after you stop working.

Key Steps:

Invest in real estate and other appreciating assets.

Establish life insurance and estate planning to protect wealth.

Teach financial principles to the next generation early.

4. Kingdom Economics: Aligning Wealth with Purpose

True financial breakthrough comes when wealth aligns with divine purpose. Malachi 3:10 reminds us of the power of tithing and generosity:

"Bring the whole tithe into the storehouse, that there may be food in my house. Test me in this," says the Lord Almighty, "and see if I will not throw open the floodgates of heaven and pour out so much blessing that there will not be room enough to store it."

Dave Ramsey, Robert Kiyosaki, and Anthony O'Neal all emphasize that wealth should be a tool for impact. Money in the hands of Kingdom-minded people leads to transformed communities, businesses, and ministries.

Action Plan

- Tithe consistently as an act of faith and obedience.
- Give generously, knowing that money is a resource for Kingdom advancement.
- Use wealth to empower others through mentorship, business ownership, and community development.

Conclusion: The Rise of ChainBreakers

Breaking financial chains is more than a goal—it's a calling. As we apply these proven strategies, combining biblical wisdom with modern financial principles, we will not only achieve personal financial freedom but empower future generations.

ChainBreakers, it's time to rise. Shift your mindset, eliminate debt, invest wisely, and align your wealth with God's purpose. Your breakthrough is not just for you—it's for your children, your community, and the Kingdom.

Are you ready to break the chains? The time is now.

TURNED CULTURE INTO CURRENCY & PAIN INTO POWER

The Iconic Man of the Year - Wise Intelligent

In an age where popularity often outweighs purpose, Wise Intelligent stands as a timeless reminder that real impact is built through people, purpose, and platforms. Crowned Iconic Man of the Year, the hip-hop legend, activist, and visionary is being honored not only for his voice—but for his values. Not just for his artistry—but for his architecture of change. “This isn’t just a trophy on a shelf,” he says. “It’s a call to keep building—and to make sure the next generation knows their voice, their vision, and their value matter.”

A Microphone and a Mission

Wise Intelligent rose from the heart of Trenton, New Jersey, with a message laced in truth and fire. As the frontman of Poor Righteous Teachers, he helped pioneer conscious hip-hop—turning beats into blueprints and rhymes into revolution. From his earliest influences—Public Enemy, KRS-One, Lauryn Hill—he learned that the mic isn’t just an instrument; it’s a weapon against ignorance and injustice. Reflecting on his journey, he shares, “The studio became my classroom. The beat was the blackboard. The lyrics? A lesson plan in liberation.”

Legacy Etched in Systems, Not Just Songs

To Wise Intelligent, legacy isn't about what you leave behind—it's what you leave within. Through organizations like IntelligentMINDZ, IntelligentSEEDZ, and the Rap Snacks Foundation, he's nurturing youth who are not only dreaming, but designing their futures.

Financial literacy, entrepreneurship, storytelling, and tech innovation are all integrated into his holistic approach to social empowerment. He's raised up young CEOs, turned students into investors, and helped shift mindsets from survival to strategy.

From Cipher to Curriculum

Wise's evolution is marked by one word: intentionality. He doesn't just rap—he teaches. He doesn't just speak—he builds. By turning his lyrics into curriculum and his albums into platforms for civic engagement, he's proven that Hip Hop is not just culture—it's currency, education, and enterprise. "We've been called under-resourced," he explains. "But the truth is—we're over-extracted. We have value. We just need systems that help us own it."

A Technological Turn Toward Liberation

With his involvement in blockchain and FinTech, Wise Intelligent is paving new roads to economic independence. From decentralized platforms to community tokens and digital learning apps, he's bridging the gap between culture and code. His app, The Owlgorhythm, is part of a future he envisions—one where artists and youth own their intellectual property, protect their data, and monetize their creativity directly.

"Legacy is about building systems that center our culture and empower our communities to thrive
—on our terms,"

Faith, Mindset & Mission

Wise's strength is deeply rooted in a resilient mindset and unwavering faith. From living in a homeless shelter at 14 to mentoring young entrepreneurs today, his journey has been guided by purpose over popularity, and vision over validation. "I create not for money, not to solve problems—but because I love what I want to see exist. That's the difference," he says. He believes the future belongs to creators who are rooted in love, led by vision, and resilient in spirit.

"Own your story. Protect your power. And build something that outlives you."

“ Iconic

“ Man

What's Next for the Iconic Man of the Year?

For Wise Intelligent, the next chapter is about institutionalizing the mission—making the work sustainable, scalable, and global. His vision includes the development of Cultural Innovation Hubs—physical and digital spaces where music, entrepreneurship, and education collide. He's launching Blockchain Empowerment Platforms to offer tools for creative and financial ownership. Global Curriculums are in development to teach Hip Hop, history, and financial empowerment from South Central to South Africa. And through Legacy Storytelling, he plans to produce documentaries, memoirs, and digital archives that preserve our narratives on our terms. "It's no longer enough to create content," Wise emphasizes. "We must create context. That's how we build institutions that last."

A Final Word to the Next Generation

If Wise Intelligent could leave one message to those coming after him, it would be this: "Own your story. Protect your power. And build something that outlives you. You were not made just to survive. You were born to elevate."

Looking At The Iconic Man In The Mirror

Wise Intelligent is not just Iconic Man of the Year. He is a cultural architect, a chain-breaker, and a strategic visionary who's using his platform to shape not just a generation—but a new global reality. He's a builder of people. A blueprint in motion. A living lesson in what happens when passion meets purpose and refuses to be silenced. Because in his words—and now ours—"You come from greatness. Now go create like it."

OUR JOURNEY

Generational Chainbreaker

THE GENERATIONAL CHAINBREAKER TRANSFORMING WEALTH & LEGACY

Claudienne Hibbert-Smith

In the world of real estate, where wealth is built and legacies are secured, Claudienne Hibbert-Smith stands as a force to be reckoned with. Her journey from a teenage mother to Billion-dollar real estate producer is not just inspiring—it's a blueprint for breaking generational chains and rewriting the narrative of financial success in Black and Brown communities.

BREAKING BARRIERS & OVERCOMING CHALLENGES

At just 14 years old, Claudienne faced a life-altering moment—one that many believed would define her future. "First, I thought I had a tumor. Next, I found out I was four months pregnant," she recalls. The whispers of doubt and statistics were against her, but where others saw limitations, she saw an opportunity to prove them all wrong.

"I've always been motivated by negative feedback. If you tell me I can't, I WILL!" And that's exactly what she did. With an unshakable resolve, she defied expectations, excelling academically, earning scholarships, and eventually graduating from the University of Florida.

Her relentless spirit was evident even in her early years. "By ninth grade, I had over 100 referrals in the school system for being a tyrant," she laughs.

"But I always knew I was going to be successful—one way or another." That innate determination, coupled with mentorship and a strong work ethic, set the stage for a groundbreaking career in real estate.

Building Wealth & Changing the Narrative

Most people spend their early 20s chasing fleeting pleasures, but at 21, Claudienne was making power moves—purchasing her first duplex instead of indulging in material luxuries. Inspired by Rich Dad, Poor Dad and fueled by a game-changing moment—watching a realtor earn $40,000 in 60 days—she took a leap of faith, quit her job, and never looked back. "I didn't buy a new car. I didn't buy things. I purchased DOORS." That simple yet profound philosophy laid the foundation for what would become an empire. Committing to buying one income-producing property per year, she far exceeded that goal, creating generational wealth not just for herself, but for those who would follow in her footsteps.

She dismantles the common fears that hold people back from investing in real estate. "People hesitate because they fear debt and market fluctuations. But fear is expensive.

I learned to evaluate purchases strategically—ensuring that my investments would sustain themselves even if tenants left.”

Her wealth-building strategies are clear:

1. Maintain excellent credit.
2. Know your lending sources.
3. Acquire income-generating assets that appreciate over time.

But Claudienne doesn’t just build wealth—she shares it. With a mission to create 1,000 investors and homeowners, she is committed to closing the wealth gap in underrepresented communities.

Dominating a Male-Dominated Industry

Real estate, particularly at the high-stakes level she plays in, has long been a white male-dominated field. Yet, Claudienne bulldozed through those barriers with undeniable skill and confidence.

Her legendary cold call that landed her a listing on Miami’s exclusive Star Island is proof of her audacity and preparation. “I thought I was calling a homeowner in Opa-locka. Turns out, she owned property on Star Island. I almost fell out of my seat!” Even as self-doubt crept in—“I told myself she won’t hire me, I’m Black, I’m young”—she pivoted, partnered strategically and the rest is her-story.

Her advice to others entering spaces where they are the minority? “Posture up and show up. Do your homework, know your numbers, and walk in like you belong there—because you do.”

Creating Impact & Legacy

With over $1 billion in real estate sales, Claudienne isn’t slowing down. She is building a legacy that will outlive her, not just through properties but through education and empowerment. Her upcoming TV show, Let’s Talk Real Estate, aims to bring wealth-building conversations to the mainstream.

Her biggest financial lesson for Black and Brown communities? “Too many people want to ‘show up for the ‘gram’ instead of securing real wealth. Success is in the journey, not just the highlight reel.”

When asked about her ultimate goal, her response is as bold as her journey: “1,000 units by the time I’m 50. And then? I’ll sit back and continue building my school!” Indeed, she and her husband already own an institution that has been shaping young minds for eight years—and they recently expanded and purchased a 25,000 sq. ft. facility.

Final Words of Wisdom

To the next generation of women and aspiring entrepreneurs, Claudienne’s message is clear: “Mindset is everything. Thoughts become things. Take massive action until it works. And when necessary—pivot, but never quit.”

As the 2025 Generational ChainBreaker, Claudienne Hibbert-Smith is living proof that no statistic, no past mistake, and no societal barrier can dictate your future—unless you allow it. She is not just breaking chains; she is forging a path for others to walk boldly into their own financial freedom.

Her legacy? “My children will inherit not just wealth, but knowledge. My community will know where I came from and believe they can do it too. And the world? I’m still working on being best known.”

And if her track record is any indication, she won’t just be known—she’ll be remembered.

Faith as the Foundation: Building Generational Wealth & Legacy the Kingdom Way

Pastor Cherise Lenore Riley

CONTRIBUTOR

In a world where wealth is often measured by bank accounts and assets, Kingdom-minded entrepreneurs must redefine what true wealth is. Wealth is more than money—it's legacy, relationships, mindset, and impact. As faith-based entrepreneurs, our foundation must be rooted in God, for anything built apart from Him is unstable. Psalm 127:1 reminds us, "Unless the Lord builds the house, the builders labor in vain." If we desire to create lasting generational wealth, we must ensure that our foundation is established on faith and trust in God.

Faith as the Blueprint for Wealth

Before we ever see financial increase, we must first shift our mindset. Proverbs 23:7 declares, "For as he thinketh in his heart, so is he." If we see wealth only in financial terms, we will miss the true prosperity God intends for us. Wealth is the ability to leave an inheritance (Proverbs 13:22), not just in money but in wisdom, discipline, and faith.

To build generational wealth, we must:

1. Renew Our Mindset on Wealth – Wealth begins with understanding that money is a resource, not a master. We are stewards, not owners. (Deuteronomy 8:18)
2. Establish Covenant Relationships – Success is not a solo journey. Align with mentors, business partners, and community leaders who operate with integrity and Kingdom principles. (Ecclesiastes 4:9-10)
3. Operate in Excellence and Stewardship – Managing what we have well today determines what God will release to us in the future. (Luke 16:10)

The Discipleship Model in Business

Just as Jesus built disciples, we must build businesses that create legacy. The principles of discipleship—faithfulness, multiplication, and servant leadership—parallel successful business-building.

- Faithfulness:

Before God entrusts us with more, we must be faithful with what we have. (Matthew 25:21)

- Multiplication:

Wealth is not meant to stop with us. We must teach, train, and empower others. (2 Timothy 2:2)

- Servant Leadership:

True success comes from serving others, not just profiting from them. (Mark 10:45)

Actionable Steps to Build a Kingdom Legacy

1. Tithe and Sow into Kingdom Work – Generosity is a Kingdom principle that ensures continual provision. (Malachi 3:10)

2. Create Multiple Streams of Income – Diversify your income through business, investments, and passive income opportunities. (Ecclesiastes 11:2)

3. Budget with Purpose – A plan for your finances honors God and prepares the next generation. (Luke 14:28)

4. Educate Yourself and Your Family – Wealth is sustained through knowledge. Take courses, read books, and invest in financial literacy. (Proverbs 4:7)

5. Write the Vision and Make It Plain – Clarity brings acceleration. Develop a clear business and legacy plan. (Habakkuk 2:2)

Your Next Step: Activation to Elevation

God is calling you higher—not just to build wealth but to leave a legacy that reflects His glory. The question is, will you take action?

Davonie Green
Author

BOOK SYNOPSIS:

In the haunting echoes of violence against women in St. Ann, Jamaica, a mysterious vigilante emerges. "For The Women Painted Purple" unfurls a gripping narrative of empowerment, retribution, and the pursuit of justice.

Brenda and her group sisters bond together in therapy over their common struggles, but soon, their group becomes the subject of an investigation. As the vigilante's actions escalate, the relentless detective, Officer Woodley, races to unmask the mystifying figure.

"For The Women Painted Purple" is a pulse-pounding tale that explores the boundaries of justice, revenge, and the fighting spirit. This thrilling saga delves into the complexities of dealing with mental health, coping with domestic abuse and finding love after.

BIO:

A proud Jamaican with a deep love for her homeland. She is interested in culture and politics. She is passionate about charity and spends her spare time volunteering. She holds a Master of Science degree in Clinical Mental Health Counseling from Florida International University, and a Bachelor of Science degree in Public Health from the University of South Florida.
