

Freedom United Implementation Manual. "How to lodge a 78B.

1. PURPOSE — Why This Exists (The Human Version)

This whole manual is about one thing:

*How to politely ask the government:

‘Hey mate, can I just see the rule you’re using?’

You’re not fighting them.

You’re not refusing anything.

You’re not causing drama.

You’re not storming Parliament with a sausage in hand.

You’re just doing the adult thing:

Asking for the paperwork BEFORE you comply.

The 78B Clarification Request is simply:

-  A question
-  Delivered calmly
-  Logged formally
-  Into the national record

No magic.

No sovereign-speak.

No loopholes.

Just transparency.

2. WHEN TO USE IT — Normal Life Situations Only

You use this whenever someone in government sends you a:

- fine
- notice
- summons
- suspension
- compliance letter
- “please pay this by Friday or else” thing

Basically, anytime the government says:

“Oih, you must do this.”

And you simply reply: “No worries — just want to check the legal foundation first.”

This isn’t a refusal.

It’s the bureaucratic equivalent of checking the price tag before buying the milk.

Freedom United Implementation Manual. "How to lodge a 78B.

3. HOW SECTION 78B WORKS — Simplified for Human Consumption

Here's the beautiful part:

When YOU raise a constitutional question...the COURT must notify ALL the Attorneys-General.

This means:

- Federal AG ✓
- All State AGs ✓
- Territory AGs ✓

Basically, the whole squad gets the email.

You don't need a lawyer.

You don't need a Latin dictionary.

You don't need a PhD.

All you need is the FORM and a QUESTION.

You are pressing the legal "call the manager" button and the law itself forces the staff to show up.

4. WHAT YOU'LL NEED — The Bunnings Shopping List Version

To lodge a clarification, you only need:

1. The Clarification Request Template
(The one from Freedom United — dead simple.)

2. Three attachments:
- Royal Archives letter (no appointment records)
 - UK Parliamentary Archives reply (no transfer Acts)
 - Attorney-General FOI decision (no documents)

Optional bonus attachments:

- Prett email (armed occupier admission)
- ICC filing receipt

3. Your enforcement notice

(Fine, summons, whatever.)

4. A printer or email account

(Or a mate with both — that counts too.)

That's it.

No candles.

No rituals.

No ceremonies.

Just staples and common sense.

Freedom United Implementation Manual. "How to lodge a 78B.

5. FILLING OUT THE TEMPLATE — Easy as Adding Your Name to a Raffle

The template has three parts:

A) Your Details

- Name
- Date
- Reference number
- Who sent you the notice

(If you can order a pizza online, you can fill this in.)

B) The Four Questions (DON'T CHANGE THESE)

These are the important ones:

1. Has the constitutional oath ever been changed by referendum?
2. Where's the original paperwork for that?
3. What's the legal basis for the "Queen of Australia" oath if no records exist?
4. What record shows the consent of the governed?

These are simple questions any adult would ask.

C) Signature

Autograph it like you're signing a footy jumper.

6. SENDING IT — Email or Paper (Your Choice

If emailing:

Subject line:

"Request for Constitutional Clarification – [Your Name / Case No.]"

Attach your PDF and Send it to:

- the department or court on your notice
- CC: Commonwealth AG
- CC: your State AG

Done. Clock off. Make a sandwich.

If handing it in:

- Print it
- Staple it (Aussie law LOVES staples)
- Walk it to the registry counter
- Say:

"Hi mate, can you stamp this as received?"

They will.

They always do.

Because it's just paperwork — not rebellion.

Freedom United Implementation Manual. "How to lodge a 78B."

7. RECORDING IT — The Adult Bit

Take a photo of:

- the stamped copy
- the email receipt
- or the sent confirmation

Upload it to the Freedom United Record Hub.

Now your question is public, permanent, and visible.

That's the whole point.

Your transparency becomes part of the nation's transparency.

8. EXPECTED RESPONSES — What Happens Next

You may get:

- a polite acknowledgment ✓
- a "we have received your notice" ✓
- silence ✓
- a confused email from a clerk ✓
- or a letter saying "this will be added to the file" ✓

ALL of these are wins.

Why? Because: The moment you ask the question, the legal duty to notify the AGs has already been triggered.

Silence = still recorded.

Receipt = recorded.

Confusion = recorded.

Formal letter = recorded.

There is NO losing outcome.

 What to say if someone asks what it is

Memorise this ONE sentence:

"It's a Request for Constitutional Clarification under section 78B.

I'm not contesting anything — just recording a question."

That line is legally bulletproof and spiritually Aussie as hell.