

Cold War <sup>[edit]</sup>

In July 1947 the regiment was reactivated at Fort Dix.<sup>[62]</sup> In 1957, the regiment was reorganized into the Combat Arms Regimental System.<sup>[62][61]</sup> In 1957, the regiment's 2d Battalion was relieved from the 9th Infantry Division, returning to assignment with the 4th Infantry Division.<sup>[64]</sup> Also 1957, the regiment's 3d Battalion was inactivated and relieved from the 9th Infantry Division, and two years later allotted to the United States Army Reserves' 81st Infantry Division.<sup>[6]</sup>

In 1961, the regiment's 2nd Battle Group (the redesignated 2d Battalion) was deployed to Germany. Stationed in Berlin, the regiment remained there for a year;<sup>[65]</sup> the following year the regiment's 2d Battalion was inactivated at Fort Lewis, and the 3d Battalion was inactivated at Atlanta.<sup>[8][64]</sup> In July 1963, the 1st Battalion was reactivated as a part of the 171st Infantry Brigade.<sup>[66]</sup> In 1966, at Fort Riley, both the 2d and 3d Battalions were reactivated, with the 3d Battalion being reassigned to 9th Infantry Division.<sup>[8][64]</sup>