

UNTITLED - 1

On Sunday, my friend from church Janet came over after church. While she was over I put on all my scuba gear and dressed up as a sea monster. When I went outside, Janet was jumping rope and she accidentally slung the rope over me. Then she started pulling and I was in flippers so I fell and hurt my knee really bad. My Quick write today was really stupid. I didn't really understand what we were supposed to write about. While I was doing it nothing would come to my mind. I've already started my bible fair project. I'm doing Johnah. I did a paper-mache whale and I'm going to put blue jello around it and put goldfish in the jello, then I'm going to put a little blue jello in my whale and Johnah sitting on a board with dead fish around him.