History and Introduction to the Alliance of Professional Tattooists, Inc.

The Alliance of Professional Tattooists (APT) is a nonprofit educational organization that was introduced in March of 1992 at the National Tattoo Association Convention in the Meadowlands, New Jersey when a group of 47 interested people decided to address the health and safety issues of the tattoo trade. Up until that time, no organized effort to educate artists or standardize infection control procedures had been made and increased popularity was bringing the industry under the scrutiny of lawmakers and health officials. Recognizing the need for change, a group of concerned professionals formed APT and the work began.

The primary purpose of APT is to promote education, health, and safety as it concerns our industry. APT's focus is the continuing education of artists and their apprentices in the practice of infection control, the establishment of professional standards, and the implementation of professional practices regarding education, regulation, health, and safety in the tattoo trade. APT's success and progress within the trade are demonstrated by the widespread requirements to use and accept the use of autoclave sterilization, single-use equipment, and gloves. Now these procedures are standard.

You, the artist, benefit from tattooing's increased popularity, competition, scrutiny, and even regulation because potential clients now seek professional tattoo services. Consumers recognize APT members as those who are concerned with their health and safety as well as those who practice the highest standards of infection control.

The best way to protect yourself and your business is through education. APT is all about education. Our members act as a vast knowledge base. So, when you participate in APT you have access to these resources.

The cornerstone of our educational program is the copyrighted Prevention of Disease Transmission in Tattooing (PDTT) seminar. This comprehensive seminar is taught as an online course and at conventions and is continually updated to ensure the most up-to-date information. The PDTT seminar is also updated regularly to conform with changing OSHA regulations and serves as continuing education credits in states requiring them. Our instructors are professional tattooists and members, so when you are trained by the APT you are being instructed by a colleague instead of someone from outside the craft.

APT was not created to write legislation. Legislators draft laws that affect your business. APT seeks to educate lawmakers and dispel myths and misinformation. While APT believes that the trade should police itself, it does accept that sometimes outside regulation is inevitable. APT's purpose here is to ensure that the inevitable legislative regulations proposed are fair, appropriate, and enforceable. The best way to do this is with a single, unified, organized voice. APT has been recognized by health officials and lawmakers as a professional, ethical, and authoritative voice in the trade. APT promotes best practices, not just minimal standards.

APT exists because of and for its members. As a non-profit organization, funds collected from seminars, dues, and fundraisers are put directly back into the organization to provide education and services. The home office is maintained by one paid employee, and members of the Board of Directors are all volunteers. Any active member is entitled to review financial or administrative documents maintained in the APT home office. Members are encouraged to voice their questions, concerns, and suggestions to the board or state APT representative for consideration and action.

As a member of a professional organization, you have unlimited resources to obtain knowledge, and the respect of other professionals, and become a voice. These benefits are priceless. You can help support professional tattooing and keep the art alive and safe through education.

Please read through this manual. It contains vital information on what this organization is and how it works. If you have questions, comments, or concerns, contact the home office.

Mission Statement: The Alliance of Professional Tattooists promotes advances in tattooing health and safety, and dissemination of that information to professional tattooists, along with preserving tattoo history from which future tattoo generations may learn.

Vision: Tattooing is a respected art form and health risks are minimized with professional, responsible, and accountable practitioners.

Alliance of Professional Tattooists

The APT is a non-profit, tax-exempt organization. Your membership and seminar fees are a business write-off.

APT members are encouraged to form good working relationships with their legislators and local and state health departments. The future of our trade can only be assured through the free exchange of information between officials and practitioners.

We seek unity and communication among the membership and seek to dispel myths and rumors within the organization and the trade. The APT believes that the interests of the trade are greater than the interests of the individual.

Our board can only govern APT based on trust from the membership. Your active involvement ensures this organization will serve its members and the trade. Our by-laws demand complete and responsible accounting for all funds accumulated and spent by the APT on behalf of its members. APT is organized in such a way as to be directly responsible to its members.

APT does not advocate limiting access to tattoo supplies for the tattooist when operating within all applicable state and local laws. We encourage industry suppliers and manufacturers to inform and educate their customers regarding safe and responsible tattooing.

APT will never endorse, finance, or lend the APT name to any for-profit organization, so as not to be diverted from our primary purpose. See section 2.2 of the by-laws for clarification

Our public relations policy is based on responsible promotion; we need to always maintain professional integrity at the level of press, radio, TV, and film. Every member acts as a representative of the trade and must understand that as such, they have a responsibility to maintain a professional demeanor.

The principle upon which the APT's foundation was built was the promotion of education, health, and safety, preserving the art of tattooing within a rapidly changing world, and ever reminding us to place the future of our craft before personal interests. The APT, beginning in 2018, is increasing its focus on preserving tattoo history. APT seeks to build relationships with existing tattoo museums and historians and be able to share that history with members and future generations of tattooists.

Acknowledgment of Responsibilities: Upon election or appointment, each board member must submit a signed acknowledgment form stating that they: Agree to uphold and fulfill the responsibilities expected of them as outlined in the Board application and by-laws, confirm they have received a copy of the current by-laws and understand their contents, commit to maintaining the ethical and professional standards of the APT in all their actions as representatives of the organization.

Section 4.4 Vacancies. In case of vacancy in the Board of Directors, through death, resignation, removal, disqualification, or any other cause, the remaining directors, by an affirmative vote of a majority thereof, may elect a successor to hold office for the unexpired portion of the term of the director whose place shall be vacant. With that one function in mind eligibility shall be determined by the following criteria: participation in all voting matters that come up during the term in a timely fashion, attendance at Annual and Special Membership meetings, as well as Board Meetings. With this understanding in place, political correctness, favoritism, or patronization will not interfere with the effective reordering of the Board at every election cycle. Disqualification shall include Board Members who either disparage or undermine the Association's Officers to those not on the Board or otherwise engage in activity contrary to the smooth and effective flow of corporate interests. The Nominating Committee Chairman will notify the Association President of any recommendation to disqualify an incumbent, the Association President shall then notify the incumbent of the Nominating Committee's recommendation; at which time the incumbent shall either withdraw their letter of intent or appeal the recommendation in the form of a motion to the full board.

BODAC members may waive their annual membership dues by returning their membership renewal form each year along with three (3) digitally formatted articles (topic of their choice; but centered in body art, tattoo history, health consciousness, and education) to be published in the SkinScribe Newsletter or on our website or social media pages; at the discretion of the Editor of the SkinScribe and the Social Media Director. Upon receipt of the renewal form and completed articles, BODAC members will be issued their membership certificate, and their dues will be considered paid in full. This submission is not considered "payment" and is therefore not subject to use as a business write-off. If an advisor so chooses to nominate themselves again to the Board of Directors the one-year waiting period to become an officer would be waived.

Such right to dissent shall not apply to a Director who voted in favor of such action.

Section 5.9 Absence from Meetings. A Director may miss no more than three meetings with excused absences during a two-year term. Excused absences will be considered on a one-on-one basis, and will be limited to personal illness, family illness, death in the family, or legal issues. Section 6.2 Powers of Committees. Any committee of the Board of Directors, to the extent provided in the resolution of the Board designating such committee, shall have and may exercise all the powers and authority of the Board of Directors in the management of the business and affairs of the Association, and may authorize the seal of the Association to be affixed to all papers which may require it with Board approval. No such committee shall have such power or authority in reference to amending the Certificate of Incorporation, adopting an agreement or merger or consolidation, recommending to the members the sale, lease, or exchange of all or substantially all of the Association's property and assets, recommending to the members a dissolution of the Association or revocation of dissolution, or amending the By-Laws of the Association. The President may sign any deed, mortgage, bond, contract, or other instrument that the Board of Directors has authorized to be executed. This power is void in cases where the execution thereof shall be expressly delegated by the Board of Directors or by these By-Laws to some other officer or agent of the Association or shall be required by law to be otherwise signed or executed. The President shall perform, in general, all duties incident to the office of the President, and such other duties as may be prescribed by the Board of Directors from time to time. They shall keep full and accurate accounts of receipts and disbursements in books belonging to the Association and shall deposit all monies and other valuable effects in the name and to the credit of the Association in such depositories as may be designated by the Board of Directors. They shall disburse the funds of the Association as may be ordered by the Board of Directors, taking proper vouchers for such disbursements. They shall, at regular intervals or when the Board requires, render to the President and the Board of Directors an account of all their transactions as Treasurer and of the financial condition of the Association. In case of their death, resignation, retirement, or removal from office, this bond and surety will also provide for the restoration of all books, papers, vouchers, money, and other property of whatever kind in their possession or under their control belonging to the Association.

The Home Office Manager shall hold, catalog, label, audit, and in general organize the property, materials, records, and papers relating to the home office, and in general, perform all duties as may be from time to time assigned by the President or the Board of Directors. The Manager shall maintain petty cash and other financial accounts relating to the operation of the home office and shall assist the Association Treasurer with the oversight of said home office financial accounts. The Home Office Manager shall, at regular intervals or when the Board requires, render to the President and the Board of Directors a home office report detailing their transactions as Home Office Manager. The Home Office Manager reports directly to the Association President. The Home Office Manager will be a member of the Association and will attend board meetings in a non-voting capacity.

These actions may occur at any regular meeting of the members of the Board of Directors or at any special meeting of the members or of the Board of Directors if notice of such alteration, amendments, repeal, or adoption of new By-Laws be contained in the notice of special meeting. Even though the power to adopt, amend, or repeal By-Laws is conferred upon the Board of Directors by the Certificate of Incorporation, it shall not divest or limit the power of the members to adopt, amend, or repeal By-Laws.
