A CACAO REFORESTATION PROJECT IN THE AMAZON

Location: Mushuinu Village, Acre, Amazon, Brazil

A project envisioned by Holistic Harmony

ABOUT THE PROJECT

The Amazon Apothecary is joining forces to keep on the cacao reforestation project of 'Holistic Harmony,' dedicated to preserving the Amazon and supporting the Yawanawa people. This collaboration seeks to protect the heritage and ancient knowledge of the Yawanawa, who are at risk, with only around 1,600 individuals remaining in the Amazon. Through cacao—a revered Amazonian medicine on the verge of being lost in Brazil—we aim to contribute to a sustainable economy and safeguard their cultural legacy.

WHY CACAO?

Cacao is an ancient Amazonian plant with powerful medicinal and cultural significance. By reintroducing it, we can both regenerate the rainforest and provide economic opportunity, especially for Yawanawa women, who will lead in cacao cultivation, processing, and healing ceremonies.

FUNDING GOAL

We need $10,000 to buy essential equipment and seedlings, enabling us to plant 300 cacao trees. Your support will kickstart this sustainable, regenerative project and help save the rainforest while strengthening indigenous traditions.

Together, let's grow hope, heal the Earth, and leave a legacy of transformation for generations to come.
