

Jeanne Burris Johnson — Short Biography

Jeanne Burris Johnson is a contemporary painter and mixed media artist working in photorealism, glass, and constructed surfaces. Her work emphasizes technical control, material clarity, and compositional structure, and has appeared in juried and invitational exhibitions. Her work is held in private collections across the United States.

Johnson brings over thirteen years of professional experience in gallery and nonprofit art environments, including gallery ownership and leadership roles in programming and operations. Her field work has included exhibition development, artist mentorship, art education, community arts initiatives, and successful grant-supported programming. She is a Manifest Gallery alumnus and a member of the Detroit Artists Market and the Scarab Club.