

SUNSHINE IN MY LIFE poem by Walter L. Williams

You are my loving hero, This much I must confess.
This time we are apart now, Is simply just a test.
I'll stand tall in the meantime, You do the same thing too.
We'll both stand tall together, We know our love is true.

We'll face whatever challenges, We'll settle all our debts.
So have no fears that I will cause, You problems or regrets.
I'll do whatever you may want, Whatever you request,
To bring you joy and happiness, No worries and no stress.

I only want for you to feel, Great pleasure every day.
My only wish is for your love, To wipe my tears away.
They come from deep within my heart, The reason that I cry.
Is knowing we're a perfect match, Of that I can't deny.

If you are feeling lonely, I just want you to know.
I'll be home with you shortly, As soon as I can go.
In times like these we know that, Our love is certainly,
A thing that will not falter. I feel your love in me.

Just thinking of you darling, Sends shivers down my spine.
Remembering your joyous face, And knowing you are mine.
There's nothing in the world now, That stops my love for you.
My heart is yours entirely, I promise this is true.
