

COMMONLY ASKED QUESTIONS

- I have a holding tank; do I still need to complete the inspection?

Yes, holding tanks are still considered a sanitary system and alarms need to be checked along with the tank to check for leaking.

- I had my system pumped last year do I need to do it again?

No, call the pumper and ask him to complete the form and date it for the date he pumped. You still need to send in the signed form to us.

- This is only recreational property, we only use it minimally, do I still need to do the inspection? Yes, the code does not differentiate between recreational and permanent.

- My system was installed late in the year, so it won't be 3 yrs old until November or December, Can I wait and do this at that time? NO, the deadline is Sept. 1 regardless of the exact date your system was installed. You also do not want to pump a system just before going into winter.

- Why didn't my neighbor get a notice? Your neighbor will eventually get a notice; he may not be on the same 3 year rotation as you.
