

ROMANTIC LANDSCAPES

Yudha studied Visual Arts at the University of Melbourne and held his first solo exhibition at the George Paton Gallery in 1992. He has exhibited his artworks in solo and group exhibitions since then.

In 2021, Yudha set up a studio in the seaside town of Corinella, to work on The Laws of Nature – his latest collection of paintings. He has found the Casuarina trees huddling along the cliff top to be the perfect muse to portray the feelings of solitude and yearning that have descended on him through periods of enforced isolation.

This project is an intricately delicate entanglement between the words and imagery of Romantic poets, such as Ella Wheeler Wilcox, Lord Byron and Walter De La Mare; and a love of the natural world.
