Martagon Lilies are great for a partially shaded perennial garden, and make unique cut flowers. These downward facing blooms are highly scented and bloom early to midsummer. These reliable perennial lilies return each season with an increasing bud count each year. The Martagon lilies we offer are not programmed bulbs. Martagon lilies are shipped in the fall for planting outdoors around the first frost date in your area. They need the natural cooling provided by the cold winter weather to grow and bloom next summer. Martagon lilies are hardy perennials in USDA Zone 3-8.

We no longer offer Martagon lilies as a programmed bulb for greenhouse forcing, or succession planting in the field or garden.
