The recommendations are based upon a combination of her nutrition and health coaching education, personal experience, and knowledge of natural health literature. A nutrition consultation as provided by Terri Jaksha does not constitute a medical service or health care treatment.
3. I understand that the nature of the recommended treatments for my care will be explained to me and that I will have the opportunity to ask questions. I am not being forced to accept treatment.
4. Individualized recommendations are offered and applied as an educational and informative consultation. Any action taken as a result of the consultation is done at the sole discretion and risk of Client. Therefore, it is strongly recommended that in addition to any health consultation that Client maintains a relationship with one or more physicians qualified to care for specific health condition(s). For example, in the case of children, it is advised to seek the advice of a pediatrician; for cardiovascular disease, consult with a cardiologist; for cancer, consult with an oncologist, etc.
5. Client’s signature verifies that Client has not been told to discontinue treatments with any other medical specialists or other health care providers. Client’s signature is being given prior to rendering any service, advice, and/or recommendations whatsoever.

I understand this consent agreement and have executed it freely and willingly.
