

Draw an Endangered Tiger!

2nd - 5th Grade Instruction Guide

Watch the video at www.parachutearts.com and on Parachute Studio's Youtube channel

Mexican Revolution: A time of great social change in Mexico beginning in 1910

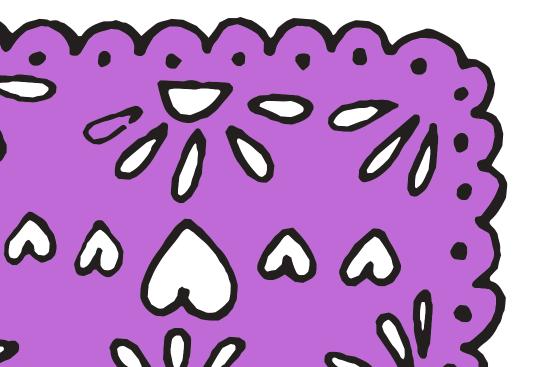

Folk artist: Art and crafts created by native people and peasants with no formal artistic training

Captivity: When wild animals are kept in enclosed spaces such as zoos and parks

Poaching: Capturing or hunting wild animals

Endangered Species Act: US law that helps to protect and conserve endangered and threatened species, and their habitats

Magic realist: An artist that creates mostly reality, but adds elements of magic or fantasy

WHAT YOU'LL NEED:

- Paper
- Pencil with eraser
- Photo of yourself
- Colored pencils, pastels or crayons
- Fine sharpie or black pen
- Glue Stick
- Scissors

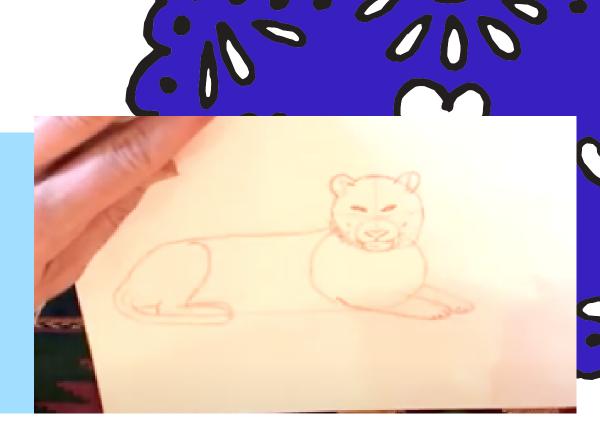

DIRECTIONS: DRAW YOUR TIGER

1. Block in the body structure. Draw a circle for head, plus vertical and horizontal lines within the circle to block in the face. Next draw a smaller circle for the nose. Draw another circle for the chest and half circles for the ears. Then draw a large oval for

2. Add details. Draw in the paws, hind legs and tail. Add eyes, whiskers and a triangular nose.

3. Trace over pencil. Cover your lines with black pen and add stripes. Erase pencil lines

4. Color in your tiger. Use colored pencils or markers to color shades of orange in your tiger's fur.

11. Cut and paste photo of yourself. Find a photo of yourself that you can cut and paste next to your sitting tiger.

12. Copy Frida's The Frame with pencil, pen, and colors. Add animals and plants along the border of your tiger drawing. Color in your frame with bright, bold colors.

Make sure to send photos to your teachers or tag @parachutearts and @ecoartsfoundation on Instagram.