

Why are FCMO services needed?

As businesses grow, they frequently commit "random acts of marketing" due to a lack of experienced, strategic marketing leadership. A fractional CMO bridges this gap by enhancing marketing strategy, teams, and execution.

Who benefits from FCMO services?

A fractional CMO is an ideal solution for small or mid-sized businesses that understand the importance of a strategic marketing leader but don't yet require a full-time position.

What is a FCMO?

A fractional CMO is a marketing executive who provides part-time, variable-term business leadership. This role requires a dedicated commitment, deep expertise in comprehensive marketing strategy, and solid executive credentials.

How long do FCMO engagements last?

Each business's ideal engagement length is unique. Most fractional CMO engagements taper off when the company is ready to hire a full-time marketing executive and end when that new executive is fully onboarded.