

JT's beginners disc selection

Part of the problem with our sport today is there is a buttload of discs, and it gets confusing really quick!! As a beginning it is usually stupid to take advice from a season player. They usually lean towards a brand or style that is beyond your ability. So to remove my personal preference I will say buy a kit from a major manufacturer IT DOES NOT Matter which one because you are a beginner and are going to suck at first.

NONE of these companies support me this is just to get you started.

Here are a couple direct links for kits buy one and go have fun.

There are numerous sets here so figure out what price works for you, but buy a three pack set you need a Putter, Midrange, and Driver, (don't even worry about a bag at this point) if you are not sure just chose the one with the artwork that you like best.

<https://www.lonestardiscs.com/products/starter-set-1>

<https://mvpdiscsports.com/products/accessories/mvp-premium-starter-set/>

<https://www.dynamicdiscs.com/collections/disc-golf-starter-sets>

<https://infinitediscs.com/products/starter-sets>

---- (next is the link for picture below)

<https://www.innovadiscs.com/disc-golf-starter-set/>

this is a great kit by Innova that is one of the major makers of discs very popular.

