On the Grey Wall Andrea Cloud

For the featured wall this month, Andrea will be showcasing images of our favorite vibrant, speedy pollinators, hummingbirds!

All of the images were created by inviting hummingbirds into her garden, using their favorite plants, not feeders. The territorial hummers and their antics even inspired her recently published book, The Adventures of Buzz Lightspeed: Sharing is Daring, illustrated photographically. Come down and get a rare peek at the expressive and elusive hummingbirds, in all their glorious array.

In the Art Vault Vivian McAleavey

Since childhood Vivian has been an avid traveler and views road tripping as her bliss. From her centrally-located base in Oregon she regularly wanders throughout the Great American West with no agenda other than to see what's around the next bend.

While Vivian has always had a camera in hand, it wasn't until her children were grown and gone that she had the time and energy to seriously pursue photography as an art form.

"I view my nature photography not as a science project, but rather, as a spiritual Quest. I enhance my intimate landscapes and abstracts, not to distort Nature, but to reveal Gaia's soul."

AdJ continues seeking Rogue Valley artists who are interested in joining a co-operative and exhibit their work to the public. For membership info we encourage you to visit the gallery or contact any current member.
