World in Perspective

AdJ members
Thalia Keple &
Roy Musitelli

AdJ continues seeking Rogue Valley artists who are interested in joining a co-operative and exhibit their work to the public. For membership information we encourage you to visit the gallery or contact any current member.

We are seeking feedback on our NEW website!
Please go to:

www.artdujourgallery.com
and let us know what you think of the new design.

In a break with our long held tradition of inviting guest artists to exhibit in our co-operative, two of our members are sharing the space in the newly renamed "Art Vault" to offer "World in Perspective", the works of fiber/jewelry artist Thalia Keple, and photo-illustrator Roy Musitelli through the end of the month.

THALIA KEPLE

"My weavings and jewelry reflect my strong interest in global and indigenous cultures. Using fiber, stones, metal, and other common artifacts, I create jewelry and woven pieces that reflect the colors and designs of Asia, Latino & South America, Africa, and Tropical cultures."

ROY MUSITELLI

"A strong desire to re-carve a new artistic path is what brought me to Art du Jour in 2016. After a 30-year ride through the world of print journalism, my artistic perspective on occasion will become informational by nature, making my work reflective of the challenging times we live in."

The featured wall will once again be a collaborative effort of a winter theme.

On Third Friday classical guitarist Rod Petrone has once again told us that he will grace us with his presence for a performance going into the holiday season.

Third Friday, November 18, 5:00 - 8:00 pm
