April and warmer weather are here, allowing Western New York golf courses to open for the 2022 season.

Below is a list of courses open for the season (weather permitting):

Glen Oak Golf Club

As of April 5th, Glen Oak Golf Club opened its 18-hole golf course for the 2022 golf season.

Located 25 minutes North of Buffalo in East Amherst, NY, Glen Oak is one of the best public golf courses in the area. Golf Digest rated the 6,720-yard Robert Trent Jones designed course 4.5 stars. The course is an excellent layout for golfers of all skill sets, offering eight sets of tees ranging from 3,160 yards to 6,720 yards.

Diamond Hawk Golf Course

Diamond Hawk Golf Course began its first day of play on April 4th. The 18-hole facility is allowing play on all holes with golf carts.

Since opening in 2007, Diamond Hawk has been one of the premier golf courses in the Western New York area. The course offers a challenge due to wooded areas around the golf course, stacked-sod bunkers, and a mix of doglegs. On top of their 18-hole course, Diamond Hawk offers an 8-acre practice facility that includes a driving range, practice bunker, chipping area, and a putting green.

Bob-O-Link Golf Club

As of March 18th, Bob-O-Link Golf Club opened its driving range and 18-hole course to the public for the 2022 golf season.

The 18-hole par three course is a Buffalo classic that can be played during the day under the sun or at night under the lights. The course totals 2,315 yards, with the longest hole being the 6th at 160 yards, making it an excellent place for golfers of all skill levels to work on their wedge and iron game.

Beginning in mid-April, golfers can play all 18 holes under the lights on Fridays, Saturdays, and Sundays. Starting on May 15th, the course will be available to play under the lights daily.
