A NEW ERA OF SOCIAL MEDIA

In the past four years, the “dead internet theory” emerged as a conspiracy, claiming the online world was being taken over by bots and automatically generated content run by an algorithm. According to Alexis Ohanian, investor and Reddit cofounder, there’s some truth to the idea, and a new era of social media will emerge because of it. - Fortune (October 15, 2025)

WHY TRXBE?

Socia Media
is tearing at the fabric of civil society.

I agree! Fake news, hate speech, conspiracy theories, abusive algoritms, and efforts to interfere in democratic elections have transformed social media platforms into breeding grounds for divisiveness and the distribution of low quality content.

WHY TRXBE?

The stats dont lie.

Young U.S. men report the highest daily loneliness in the West:
Using aggregated 2023–2024 data, 25% of U.S. men ages 15–34 said they felt lonely a lot of the prior day.

Loneliness is widespread across adults:
In October 2024 Gallup found 20% of U.S. adults felt lonely a lot of the prior day.

A nontrivial share report having no close friends: In an October 2024 Pew report, 18% of aduts said they have no close friends (excluding family).

The first generations of young people with smart phones and social media had it rough. Fear of missing out, cyber bullying*, distorted body image, and a decrease in face-to-face interactions have increased anxiety, depression, & loneliness.

* Nearly half of U.S. teens (46%) report being bullied or harassed online (Pew, 2023).

The Cardigans Play "Beautiful One" Live For The First Time 20 Years After Their Final Album

There is unmet demand for the Cardigans to tour America again. The underrated Swedish pop-rock greats haven't toured this country in 19 years, playing only one stateside show since 2006, and their biggest (but not even best) song Lovefool went viral on TikTok a few years ago. That sole US show was at the 2023 goth/new wave nostalgia fest Darker Waves in Huntington Beach...
