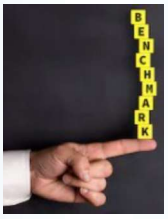
Benny and the DISH™

Distributed Benchmarking with Data Information Sharing Hearings



We developed a comprehensive, continuous, ongoing benchmarking system for sustained institutional improvement called Benny and the Dish™.

The system collects benchmarked data from students, faculty, and staff at three temporally-sequenced points during the semester.

The system continuously analyzes data and provides ongoing feedback to programs, offices, and student support units via a data-sharing portal.

Information is shared concurrently with faculty, students, support staff, and office administrators in our Data Hearing format facilitating real-time adjustments to enhance the shared learning eco-system.
