The Vale Resort – The Lakes Course (practice round)

18 Holes | Par 72 | 6,436 Yards

Now nearing its 25th anniversary, the Lake Course continues to demand the full attention of thousands of golfers each year, as well as the odd famous face. Among the names who've taken on the championship golf course are Wales golfers Ian Woosnam and Bernard Gallagher, as well as football star, Gareth Bale.

At 6,436 yards, it certainly packs a punch. From the off, this par-72 course makes clear it's not for the faint-hearted, with an opening par-three shot in full view, and striking distance of the hotel. Gulp. Survive that and there's the sizable challenge that accompanies 12 of the championship golf course's 18 holes involving water.

It's not called the Lake Course for nothing! And having spent the past two decades bedding into the local landscape, the Lake Course at the Vale Resort now offers a rich habitat for local wildlife.

The Vale Resort – The Wales National Course

18 Holes | Par 72 | 6,436 Yards

Opened in June, the Wales National Course has already played host to several European Challenge Tour and Senior Tour events, as well as the PGA Europro Tour.

At 7,433 yards from the championship tees, it is one of the longest golf courses outside the United States. A variety of par shots also helps keep the pace of play varied, challenging even the most competent of golfers.

Another major draw is its setting. The Vale of Glamorgan is sometimes referred to as ‘the garden of Cardiff’ and we think you’ll understand why when you visit the Peter Johnson-designed Wales National Course. Picture mature woodland, wide and narrow fairways, and vast water and bunker features, that are teaming with wildlife.
