Official Newsletter of The Crawford County Historical & Genealogical Society, Inc.

John Carnes: River Trader on the Ohio River, Owner-Operator of Carnes Mill on The Little Blue River.

Back in 1989, The Crawford County Historical & Genealogical Society, along with some funding from an Indiana Heritage Research Grant produced a book which copied three small booklets of information recorded by John Carnes which were loaned by Wilma Smith Knight, a John Carnes descendant, for the project. The document ran some 200 plus pages with only one small page copied onto one large page. Roberta Toby was given a copy of this book by Elaine Stephenson and she loaned it to me to copy and reproduce, which I put in 53 pages.

It appears that John was what I would call a “shipping expeditor,” who would take care of anyone wanting to ship items on the Ohio River. The information in his booklets show that different persons would build or own the boat and had items they wished to ship. Probably they had room for more goods, which they would then sell or contract to ship them along with their own. John Carnes would keep track of the items and the costs of shipping and the staffing of the keel boat down the river. He also had boats of his own that he used in his business.

A listing of some of the boat owners:

- Cledenning, boat #3
- Morrison, boat #7
- Jas. B. Carnes, boat #5
- Popham, boat #6
- Peckinpaugh, boat #7
- Carnes, Clendening & Lyon, #2

Leavenworth & Carnes, #2

Items listed as being shipped from Leavenworth were: Sugar, Molases, Candles, Flour, Lumber, Lime, Potatoes, Oats, Hay, Pork, Beef, Corn Meal, Cotton, Lime Kiln or Oven, Apples, Onions, Cider, Beans, Skiff, Corn, Hoop Poles, Misc.

Dates found in Book One run from 1855 to 1857; Book Two dates run from 1856 to 1861, and Book Three dates are 1871 and 1872.

Also found in the book are costs incurred while building his Mill on the Little Blue River between Riddle and Grantsburg being in either Sterling Township or Ohio

September 2010 Meeting.

The Crawford County Historical & Genealogical Society met on September 13, 2010 at the Crawford County Library in English, with President Larry Burmeister calling the meeting to Order at 6:30 P.M. President Burmeister welcomed everyone and asked for a moment of silence before the Pledge to the Flag was repeated by all.

County Historian Richard Eastridge introduced the guest speaker, Vic Megenity. He told the story of Lucy Higgs Nichols, born April 10, 1838, who was the first woman to become a member of the 23rd Indiana Regiment of the Civil War. Lucy was a slave who escaped with her young daughter from her master and ended up in the camp of the 23rd. When her master found her, the Captain would not let him take her and she became the soldiers cook, laundry woman as well as nurse. She stayed with the 23rd until the end of the war and later came back to New Albany where she lived until her death. She also became an honorary member of the GAR.

President Burmeister dismissed the reading of the minutes because of the absence of the secretary. Richard Eastridge made the motion and Jim Kaiser seconded it to accept the secretary's report as published.
